House and Senate Split Perils Legislature Progress

BLOC ORGANIZES TO FORCE ACTION ON LEGAL PAPER

Group Claims 80 Members Will Fight Senate Proposals If Duckworth-Weekes-Harris Project Is Not Adopted.

SHARP DIVISION IN TWO BRANCHES

Action on Western & Atlantic Plan Is Delayed by Committee; Both Battle and Allen Absent.

Over 45 members of the house Thursday afternoon formed a bloc to hold up senate bills until and unless the upper house passes the Duckworth-Weekes-Harris bill to regulate the practice of law and the performance of legal services. Members of the bloc claimed a total strength of more than 80 members on a roll call.

Although the session is but a week and one day old, there has been an undercurrent of warfare between the two bodies since it convened. Even before it organized a split in the upper branch was hinted when Senator Linton B. West, of Randolph, pitched his candidacy for the presidency of the senate on "loyalty to the administration."

No administration issue has been precipitated over the fight to pass the practice regulation measure nor is it probable that the administration will be brought into the senate scrap, which opened Thursday when the bill was reported out of committee for second reading. However, members of both bodies lamented Thursday night, a split at this time between the senate and house will retard the prospect of passing administration legislation.

Atlanta Company Blamed.

Charges that an Atlanta title and trust company is attempting to wreck the Duckworth-Weekes-Harris bill were made by bloc members after a meeting at the Ansley hotel Thursday afternoon.

"An Atlanta title company," a leading member of the bloc said, "whose representatives were at the title and trust company association met, and who agreed upon the bill at that time as a fair and equitable one to be responsible for the introduction of subtle amendments to muddy the waters and kill the bill."

This bill, the bloc spokesman continued, "is the most serious threat to the protection of the lawyers and the public. For more than 100 years the lawyers of Georgia have been cheerfully working to protect other professions and interests and it is more than passing strange now that they are unable to protect themselves and the people who have litigation and legal business."

Members said that when debate resumed Tuesday they will serve notice that a roll call will be demanded when the measure comes to a vote. Denying that such a course implied a threat against the senate, members admitted that bills backed by opponents of the regulatory practice law would, at least, be "looked upon with certain disfavor if our bill is defeated."

Split between the senate and house are not unusual. No later than the recent special session, with a personnel that contained only two members of the present senate, the upper branch fought the passage of the Batte-Allen bill to discount Western & Atlantic railroad rentals with prophesies of a gubernatorial veto. And while the house passed the bill, Governor Hardman made the opposition prophesies come true.

Other Sharp Division.

Previous sessions of the legislature, however, have been noted for sharp division between the two branches. Most observers had hoped for a reign of harmony with the advent of the Russell administration and the pledge of cooperation given Governor Russell by both Speaker Tucker and President Neill, supported heartily by the dem-

LEGION LEADERS FAVOR LOAN FUND

State Commander Reports Steady Gain in Membership for Georgia

LAGRANGE, Ga., July 2.—(P)—The executive committee's announcement that it had approved proposal of a $10,000,000 state loan and farm loan fund for veterans and the state commander's report occupied the principal attention of Georgia Legionnaires in convention here today.

Resolutions regarding the proposed loan fund will be submitted for general approval of the Legionnaires tomorrow. These would call upon the state legislature to pass an act similar to the veterans' farm and home purchase act of California.

It would provide for a $10,000,000 bond issue, to be approved by voters at the general election of 1932, for the purpose of making loans to veterans who wished to buy farms or homes. Veterans would be allowed to borrow up to $5,000 at 3 per cent interest with the addition of small administration and service charges.

The fund would be handled by a board of control headed by the governor and which would approve loans and purchases. The $10,000,000 figure was a suggestion, but the resolutions provided that such other amounts as would permit the act to become operative would be acceptable.

Veterans would have 20 years to pay off their loans.

William A. Hodgman, state commander, told the Legion today that Georgia had increased Legion membership from 8,532 to 10,082 during his term of office.

Poets have been added to the Legion at Douglas, Ocala, Gordon, Clayton, Bleckley county, Augusta, Clayton, Monticello, Ipanema, Cumming, Dallas, Unadilla and Danielville, he reported. Several inactive poets have had their chapters rechartered, he added.

He commended Georgia veterans' hospitals and said although these were crowded, the veterans' bureau hopes

SEGREGATE VICE, BUILDING OWNERS ASK POLICE BODY

Committee Turns Down Plea for Return of "District"; Padlocking of Apartments Planned.

Re-establishment of the "segregated district" in Atlanta for the purpose of "clearing residential districts and apartments of undesirable women" was urged Thursday night by a committee of the Atlanta Apartment House Owners' Association.

The plea was voiced at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the police committee of council and was curtly turned down by a committee which felt it should not take steps to re-establish a segregated district tabooed for nearly twenty years.

Padlock laws will be invoked, however, to drive undesirable from districts where owners "are not considered as citizens in the vicinity or selective in the choice of tenants," under a decision of the committee.

Co-operation Is Pledged.

Every co-operation was pledged the apartment owners in the effort to purge certain streets of the undesirable tenants, with Alderman G. Everett Millican and J. Charlie Murphy pledging their "best efforts" to send "operators to the stockade for straight sentences and padlocking of the apartments in the event owners failed to pursue proper diligence in selecting their tenants."

Plea of the apartment owners was voiced by J. H. Appa, executive secretary, who exhibited papers to show that one operator had started at a certain address several months ago, and which she had moved finally telling the committee that she now has "been the circuit again by moving to the city which she first lived in."

W. Van Goetsveld, another of the committee from the apartment owners, showed the "flagrant violation of the anti-vice law of Atlanta, and the inability of owners to rent their properties in certain sections because of the bad reputation caused by these undesirable."

George Nelson, third member of the owners' committee, charged a lack of co-operation of the recorders' courts into which violators of the law are haled.

"What we must have are straight stockade sentences," he said. "The 'segregated district' is a thing of the past. We must have straight sentences. Unless we get relief, we will be ruined. Our investment in the city reached a low figure. Many of the properties could not be sold on the present market even at a great sacrifice."

Patrolman A. C. Sinyard was fired from the department after being convicted of charges of drunkenness on duty, while C. S. Adams, another patrolman, was suspended for 30 days on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer.

Patrolman J. J. Coppinger was exonerated of charges of conduct unbecoming an officer.

William R. Echols will begin a drive at once against short rights, taking in every store in Atlanta, and also against short weight ice peddlers.

Echols charged that chain stores are the "worst offenders in the short weight line" and requested authority to proceed against them at once. The committee gave him a free hand.

Patrolman W. S. Kilham will go on trial at the next meeting of the committee, July 16, on charges of unfitting for police duty because of a physical disability.

Prohibition occupied a prominent place in proceedings of the committee.

GEORGE PROTESTS FREIGHT INCREASE

Senator Sends Brief to I. C. C. Backing Views of Georgia Shippers.

VIENNA, Ga., July 2.—(P)—United States Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, today forwarded a brief to the interstate commerce commission supporting the protest of certain Georgia shippers against a proposed 15 per cent increase in railroad freight rates.

Senator George said prices have been quoted and contracts made in certain lines, particularly the building trade, and an upward revision of freight rates if made immediately would be "unfair" to these interests.

"It is obvious that increased taxes or increased fixed charges of any character will retard, rather than hasten, the restoration of normal conditions," the senator said.

Senator George contended an increased freight rate would not mean an additional income for the carriers at this time but the raise would ultimately result in reduced incomes for the railroads.

He said the introduction and development of new facilities of transportation was responsible in a measure for the decline in the rate of growth of railroad traffic and rates generally higher than pre-war tariffs had driven traffic from the roads. He said also the relocation of industries was a factor in decreased traffic.

The Georgia senator told the commission that agricultural products, especially perishable fruits and vegetables, could not stand an increase in freight rates.

"The farm is the most sorely pressed unit of our industrial system," the senator said in the brief. "Three per cent income upon any fair value, however ascertained, in existing conditions would greatly increase the farm income or revenue. Farm producers are not hostile to the carriers but they are most earnest in their contention

Georgia's Stribling Fights German For Heavyweight Crown Tonight

By Ed Danforth, Sports Editor. CLEVELAND, July 2.—Opportunity swings wide the gate of fame and fortune for W. L. Stribling II, of Bainbridge, Ga., tomorrow night in a light-heavyweight fight in the Cleveland stadium.

Max Schmeling, of Klein-Luckow, Germany, bars the way, knotted gloves carried in front of his bronzed chest, eyes acing beneath heavy black brows.

If Stribling can overturn the thunderous "Lullaby" he will win the "heavyweight" boxing championship of the world. The boy from Georgia will do that, three out of every four of the 200 fight experts here agree.

Your modest correspondent is still firmly convinced Stribling will win by a knockout before the seventh round, cutting down the German's iron resistance with the most murderous left hand the ring has seen since the days of Gentleman Jim Corbett. However, a decision at the end of fifteen rounds would do nicely. And how.

The two contestants are in perfect physical condition. Stribling is 26 years old; Schmeling 25. Never before have two such youthful men battled for the world's title.

"Behind the perfection of 'swamp' muscle and wiry ligament, however, is an advantage that is all in Stribling's favor. Stribling has fought and defeated five or six first-class opponents

FRENCH AGREE TO EXTEND TIME ON GERMAN LOAN

Lengthy Negotiations Bring U. S. and France Close to Settlement of All Points of Difference, Dispatches Say.

CAPITAL CHEERED BY DEVELOPMENTS

Washington Now Sees Full Acceptance of Hoover Proposal for World Moratorium.

PARIS, July 2.—(P)—Settlement on a very favorable basis of the Franco-American negotiations centering about President Hoover's proposed war debt holiday tonight was expected within a few hours.

Although no official announcement was likely before tomorrow, it was learned from reliable sources that an agreement had been reached on certain of the outstanding issues on which the French and American viewpoints disagreed.

This information was that France has agreed to give Germany more than five years to refund a loan based on the unconditional reparations, and that ten or more years probably would be granted.

France also was said to have reconsidered her suggestion that some of this money be loaned to Yugoslavia and other small European nations whose needs would be provided for by other means.

It was learned also that France and Great Britain are approaching an agreement on the question of the guarantee fund under the Young plan. This was one of the points about which France was most concerned.

A conference scheduled for tonight between Secretary Mellon and the French representatives in the negotiations was postponed this afternoon so that Mr. Mellon and Ambassador Edge might confer with Washington on counter proposals submitted unofficially by the French government.

The Havas News Agency said, however, that Mr. Mellon and Pierre Flandin, French finance minister, conferred during the afternoon, issuing no statement when Mr. Mellon left the minister's office. The American representative is to meet Premier Laval again tomorrow.

The French proposals were drafted at a special meeting of the cabinet, with President Doumer attending, today.

An announcement by Great Britain of her "unanimous" call for a conference of the most interested nations had no apparent effect on the determination of the French and American representatives to continue their negotiations, particularly as the nations referred to in the British offer are signatories to the Young plan of which the United States is not one.

The prevailing impression tonight

U. S. Attache Boxes Duke's Ears But Refuses Challenge to Duel

LONDON, July 2.—(P)—A story that an American commercial attache boxed the ears of a Hungarian duke over a fancied insult but refused to settle the argument on the field of honor was related by The Daily Express today.

William A. Hodgman, attached to the legation at Budapest, recently was entertaining guests in the restaurant of the polo grounds there, dispatches said, when Duke Heinrich Borwin, of Mecklenburg-Schwerin passed remarks concerning Hodgman's wife.

Hodgman was said to have retaliated with a stinging slap to the duke's head. The duke thereupon challenged him to a duel but Hodgman declined to carry the incident further. He left

'Free-for-All' Disrupts Decorum Of Britain's House of Commons

BY ALVIN HALLMAN. LONDON, July 2.—(P)—A rough-and-tumble fight, unprecedented for more than a quarter of a century, took place today in the staid old house of commons, mother of parliament, when left wing laborites resisted the suspension of one of their members.

Later, after order was restored, the government escaped defeat by only five votes on an amendment to the Snowden land tax bill which would have exempted garden cities and garden suburbs from the tax. Several liberals voted against the government.

When the melee was at its height, with fists flying and members kicking, wrestling and tearing clothes and hair, the speaker was forced to adjourn the session because of the general disorder.

This was the first time this action had been taken since the great battles of Irish nationalist days.

The trouble was ended after the offending member, J. McGovern, of Shettleston, Glasgow, who had defied the speaker, was removed bodily from his seat and ejected from the house.

After a 20-minute recess, the speaker recovered the house and pronounced suspension for the remainder of the session of McGovern.

Throughout most of the fight, which was between half a dozen left wing laborites and attendants, the conservative members sat aghast. Finally their shouts were added to the confusion.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 2.—(AP)—J. B. McCasland, of Sherman, Texas, faced a two-year prison sentence in connection with the burning May 9, 1930, of the Grayson county courthouse. He pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of rioting. Charges are pending against 13 other defendants, alleged to have burned the courthouse while attempting to lynch George Hughes, a negro, charged with criminal assault on a white woman. Hughes perished in the fire.

SIX PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM KENTUCKY JAIL

MADISONVILLE, Ky., July 2.—(AP)—Six prisoners escaped from the Hopkins county jail tonight by sawing the bars on a cell door. Those who escaped were Bernice Dodd (a man), Henderson; Jack Harlan, Muhlenberg county; D. Stewart, F. O. Alsbrook, Ad Frederick and his son, Hampton Frederick, all of Hopkins county. The escape was discovered when another prisoner knocked on the door of the jailer's office and notified him of the break.

ASTOR ESTATE WINS INHERITANCE SUIT

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP)—Trustees for the estate of the late Viscount William Waldorf Astor Wednesday won from the federal government a judgment of $10,000,000 paid for inheritance taxes, and interest of about $6,000,000. The decision was handed down in federal district court. The action was based on a deed of trust executed in 1913 by which the viscount transferred holdings of $46,000,000 in New York to the Farmers' Loan & Trust Company, as trustees.

After payment of $300,000 annually to himself, he provided that the remainder should be divided between his two sons, William Waldorf Astor Jr. and John Jacob Astor. The government contended that the deed of trust was drawn in anticipation of death, and in an attempt to defeat the inheritance tax laws.

BISHOP CANNON URGES BAN ON WET PARTIES

Adoption of Law Enforcement Platform, Instead, Recommended for Parties

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N. C., July 2.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon Jr., chairman of the board of temperance and social service of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, expressed the hope here tonight that both major parties next year will adopt law enforcement platforms and nominate dry candidates.

Thus, he said, the prohibition question would be entirely eliminated from partisan politics.

Bishop Cannon spoke at a public session of the church board, which, he said, had requested him to state the position of the Methodist church on prohibition.

He said prohibition never had any place in partisan politics until the campaign of 1928 when, he asserted, Alfred E. Smith, the democratic nominee, precipitated the question and drew the issue more sharply by selecting John J. Raskob as democratic national committeeman.

Referring to his opposition to the democratic nominee in the 1928 presidential campaign, Bishop Cannon said:

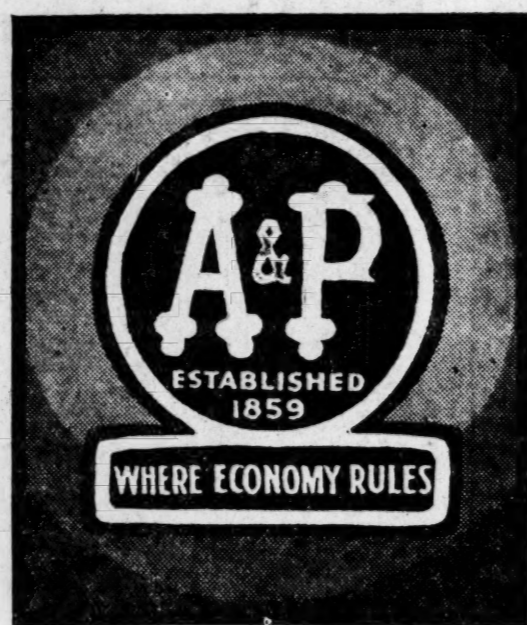

"I was a democrat in 1928, but I was an anti-Smith democrat, and as I understand the action taken by the general conference (of the Methodist church) I am an anti-Smith, anti-Raskob democrat today, if I approve that action. And I cannot believe that those southern people who put moral principle above party regularity in 1928 will fail to take exactly the same action, if compelled to do so, in 1932."

The temperance program of the Methodist board was announced today. It urges every church to organize to study the latest facts available "concerning the inevitable evils of the use of intoxicants, and the benefits which are derived from our state and national law prohibiting traffic in the same."

INJUNCTION GRANTED IN BURYING PETITION

Judge Humphries Enjoins Sunlight Company Permanently.

The Sunlight Funeral Service Company, Inc., of Athens, Ga., was permanently enjoined Thursday from conducting additional burial certificate business, by Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court. The concern was placed in the hands of James R. Cothran as receiver.

The matter grew out of a fight between the company and W. B. Harrison, insurance commissioner of the state, who contends that the burial union was operating as an industrial life insurance company without conforming to the state laws concerning such insurance companies. Judge Humphries held that this was true.

The injunction against the Sunlight company, reported to be one of the largest burial certificate businesses in the state, was enjoined several weeks ago by Harrison as were several others. Seven similar injunctions have been granted by the court.

In compliance with an order issued this week by Judge Humphries, Mr.

Cothran Thursday submitted a written report as to his activities in acting as receiver for a number of burial unions. Judge Humphries issued the order when he was informed that Cothran had taken over the undertaking business of several concerns as well as their burial union business.

In the written report made by W. L. Buchanan, attorney for Cothran, it was shown that only two undertakings had been taken over, and then only because the undertaking business and the burial certificate business were not distinct and under separate charters. Judge Humphries accepted the report and commented that he had asked for the report as it was not his desire to embarrass any one in the operation of an undertaking business, but only to reach the burial unions which he believed to be operating as insurance companies illegally.

WRITER SENT TO JAIL PENDING DEATH TRIAL

PORT PAYNE, Ala., July 2.—(AP) Tom Roan, fiction writer, was remanded to the DeKalb county jail here today to await trial on a charge of slaying Dr. W. P. Hicks several months ago, following habeas corpus hearing before Judge A. E. Hawkins.

Roan, who was indicted by a special session of the grand jury on a charge of first degree murder, sought his release under bond pending trial at the fall term of court.

Banks and Stores Observe Holiday Here Tomorrow

Only fireworks stands and police and filling stations, apparently will continue to function as usual on the Fourth of July. Federal, state, county and city institutions will join the majority of merchants in shutting up shop for a fitting observance of the occasion, according to announcements Thursday.

The postoffice will be closed for the day, with only one delivery in the business district and none in the residential sections, officials stated. The state capitol and the Fulton county courthouse will also be officially closed, though a few judges are expected to attend to overflow business during the morning. City hall and recorder's court will follow suit, but "business as usual" will be the motto at police headquarters.

Announcement from L. L. Austin, executive secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association, states that nearly all retail business houses will be closed for the national holiday.

MRS. EMMA WHITE DIES IN INDIANA

Mrs. Emma White, who lived in Atlanta from 1886 until a short time ago, died Wednesday in Indianapolis, Ind. She was the widow of Samuel White, Confederate veteran, who fought in the defense of Atlanta, and who was for a long time editor of the Lexington (Ky.) Gazette. She was the mother of the late Edward W. and Samuel M. White, organizers of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, and a niece of John Hood, Confederate general. She is survived by two daughters, Miss Mamie White, at whose home she died, and Miss Roberta White, both of Indianapolis. Services will be in Lexington, Ky., probably Saturday.

EPWORTH LEAGUES WILL HOLD PICNIC

The Atlanta Epworth League Union will hold its annual Fourth of July picnic Saturday at Blue Ridge, James P. Cox, president, announced Thursday. Two special trains, the first leaving the Union station at 7:15 a. m. and the other following soon after, will carry between 500 and 600 persons to the picnic. Mr. Cox said, Box lunches will be carried, and the picnickers will enjoy swimming, mountain climbing, hiking, tennis, baseball, horseshoe pitching, motorboat racing and other features. Cups will be awarded to leagues bringing the largest crowds, and to winners of the horseshoe pitching and baseball tournaments.

SAVING IN TAX OFFICE IS FAVORED BY MAYOR

Two Assessors Due To Be Named Monday To Fill Expired Terms.

On the heels of announcement of Alderman John F. Scott that he will not fight to concentrate tax assessing in Atlanta under one head, by elimination of two assessors, whose terms expire Monday, Mayor James L. Key said he favors not electing successors to the places. The move would save $10,000 annually in salaries. In making his announcement, Key pointed to the fact that in New York there is only one assessor, and also to the fact that there seems to be a general concentration of authority and responsibility in municipal governments of the larger cities of the nation.

"I see no reason for Atlanta to have three assessors," he said. "Atlanta must economize. This is a good place to start."

Terms of W. A. Hancock and Harry Perkerson expire Monday, and Young is slated to select successors. Thus far Perkerson is unopposed, but Hancock has four opponents to date—Marvin P. Roane, former borough tax collector; George Saxe, chief clerk in the tax collector's office; Robert Haynie, salesman, and E. W. Smith, real estate man.

Duke Feared Dying.
Scott said he had thought the matter over and considered it good in theory, but that he will make no fight to prevent election of the two assessors.

ATLANTA IS FAVORED FOR NEW HOSE MILL

Head of Nationally-Known Concern Will Decide on Site Soon.

Favoring Atlanta as the site for the location of a silk hosiery mill, E. M. Kaufmann, president of Bower & Kaufmann, Inc., nationally-known hosiery concern, plans to return to Atlanta within the next two weeks to render his decision, it became known here Thursday.

With his son, who is an official of the Philadelphia concern, Mr. Kaufmann has been inspecting prospective sites near Atlanta for the last several days, and although the two executives went to Nashville to look over sites there, it was learned that the elder Kaufmann favors Atlanta because of the stability of labor conditions and its strategic location as a distributing point.

In the event that the decision is to build a hosiery mill here, the elder Kaufmann said before leaving, it would involve an outlay of approximately $40,000 and would mean the employment of about 250 persons from this vicinity. All executives, Mr. Kaufmann said, would be sent to Atlanta from Philadelphia. The removal, he added, would constitute a complete removal of the Bower & Kaufmann mills from Philadelphia.

AIRPORT IS GIVEN FIRE PROTECTION

The $1,000,000 worth of flying equipment stationed at Candler field for the first time in the history of the airport Thursday had fire protection. Completion of the main pipe from College Park assured that in the future the equipment will be amply protected.

The plan was devised by J. H. Gray, airport manager. A six-inch main was laid from College Park waterworks and outlets have been distributed all over the fields, thus furnishing the maximum protection possible.

KENTUCKY G. O. P. COMPLETES TICKET

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 2.—(AP)—The republican state-wide nominating convention adjourned Wednesday afternoon naming its entire state ticket from governor to clerk of the court of appeals by acclamation.

Headed by 38-year-old William B. Harrison, Louisville's dapper mayor, as nominee for governor, the ticket is pledged to a platform of which the chief plank calls for "taking the state highway commission out of politics."

On the ticket with Mayor Harrison are John C. Worsham, Henderson, for lieutenant governor; Mrs. Betty H. Buehler, Lexington, for secretary of state; William T. Davis, Pineville, for attorney-general; J. A. Smith, Hazard, for auditor; C. B. Bennett, Greenup, for treasurer.

BUSINESS WILL PICK UP WHEN YOU PICK IT UP!

Business has a habit of falling off without any help. But it never picks itself up. Business picks up only when some man, eternally and intensely interested in business, picks it up—for himself and his business.

This is the theme and the thesis most interestingly written out, specified and prescribed—in Nation's Business—out today—by two of the greatest minds in American business—the two greatest minds in their respective, allied and co-operative lines—salesmanship and advertising—Norval A. Hawkins, Theodore F. MacManus.

HACKSAW FOUND IN POLICE CELL

Delivery Believed Averted by Discovery in Livingston's Lockup.

A hacksaw discovered Thursday in the state cell at police headquarters occupied by Jack Livingston and W. L. Harvey, alleged bandits, and six other prisoners, led police to believe that plans for a wholesale jail delivery had been frustrated. Turnkey H. W. Douglas discovered the blade on the ledge of the door leading to the cell in the course of his morning inspection. The two were placed in solitary confinement.

NEBRASKA GOVERNOR DISMISSES OFFICIAL

LINCOLN, Neb., July 2.—(AP)—Governor Charles W. Bryan today said an attempt had been made to remove from the state capital the records of the receivership division of the state banking department. He said I. D. Bynon was implicated and dismissed him as assistant counsel for the banking department.

KIDNAPERS ARE FOILED BY ASHEVILLE LEADER

Two Men Sought After Attempt To Abduct Robert Lee Ellis.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 2.—(AP)—A search was launched here today for two men who yesterday attempted to kidnap Robert Lee Ellis, head of an Asheville bottling concern and western North Carolina business leader.

Warrants sworn out by Sheriff L. E. Brown named the men as Eddie (Tex) Gardner, 34, and W. O. (Bill) Cryer. The sheriff said both are believed to have come here from Florida. Ellis was held up by a hitch-hiker on a mountain road in Biltmore forest. A second man made his appearance almost immediately and gave orders that Ellis be taken to a secluded spot nearby.

As the party drove away, Ellis seized a pistol in the hitch-hiker's hand, ordered the men out of his car and escaped. Sheriff Brown said he had sent telegrams to police departments all over the country, giving detailed descriptions of Gardner and Cryer and asking that they be apprehended. The sheriff said his deputies had discovered a house on the Hendersonville highway which Gardner and Cryer rented several weeks ago and in which he believed they intended holding Ellis for ransom.

LOFTIS IS AWARDED VERDICT FOR $9,000

Atlanta Thursday lost one of the hardest legal battles in the past several years when a jury in Judge Edgar B. Funder's division of Fulton county superior court awarded the W. S. Loftis Plumbing Company a verdict of $9,000 as an echo of a row over installation of fixtures in three Atlanta junior high schools.

The case took nearly a month to try and was the aftermath of friction between Loftis and school board authorities in which the latter finally took over the work and completed it. Loftis sued for $28,000 for material and labor but the verdict carrying interest on the money amounts to $10,280.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and his assistants were studying the case with a view of taking an appeal if it is believed it would be advantageous to the borough.

Schools involved were Bass, O'Keefe and Joe Brown.

Raymond R. Ritchie, deposed business manager of schools, was kept on the job another month in order to appear as a material defense witness, leaving his post Wednesday afternoon just as the case reached the jury.

A complete office supply department and the manufacturing sales offices are located at 8 Pryor street, adjacent to the entrance of the Ten Pryor Street building. The department is under the management of Roy C. Ellis.

He was taken to the hospital where his condition was considered good until an infection set in, causing his death. The body was taken Wednesday to Hillsboro, his home, for services and interment.

"GAG" RULE PLAN BEATEN IN TEST

Efforts to institute a gag rule in council were thwarted Thursday afternoon by the ordinance committee of council, when a measure offered by Alderman J. Charlie Murphy abolishing the privilege of allowing members to explain their votes on any measure was defeated.

Murphy offered the paper after council's 39 members took up nearly an hour when a vote was taken on whether Mayor James L. Key should be censured for anti-prohibition utterances made while in France.

Among other papers to fall under the disfavor of the ordinance group and which will go to council with an adverse report are:

1. A proposal to hold a borough-wide referendum as to whether eastern standard time shall be instituted here.

2. An ordinance requiring ice deliveries to use a waterproof bag in delivering ice to consumers.

3. An ordinance proposed by Councilman Claude L. Barnwell to prevent the mayor.

NEW YORK MAGISTRATE REMOVED FROM BENCH

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP)—The appellate division of the supreme court today upheld charges of malfeasance against Magistrate Jesse Silbermann and removed him from the bench.

The decision of the five justices who heard the testimony was unanimous. A week ago they removed Jean H. Norris, New York's first woman magistrate, also for malfeasance.

In his summation of the evidence presented at the trial, Referee Samuel Seabury, who conducted the inquiry into the lower courts, charged that a conspiracy existed to defeat justice in women's court, over which Magistrate Silbermann presided.

lending borough equipment to other boroughs without the express consent of the mayor.

"Legger" Loyal to Trade, Prefers Jail to Pledge

GAFFNEY, S. C., July 2.—(AP)—Sentenced to the chain gang for violating the prohibition laws, E. B. Bolin, of Cherokee county, prefers the roads to signing a pledge to sell no more liquor.

Governor Blackwood suspended the road sentence on condition that Bolin pay a fine and sign the pledge. Today Bolin notified Constable Jones, clerk of the county court, that he would surrender and begin his term. Friends said he refused to sign the pledge.

$150,000 IN LIQUOR TAKEN IN MONTGOMERY

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 2.—(AP)—A carload of liquor, billed as grape juice from Brooksville, Fla., to Waukegan, Wis., was seized in the Atlantic Coast Line yards here today by federal officers, who estimated the value of the shipment at $150,000.

Officers said the car contained 600 cases of bottles, probably 50 of which contained grape juice.

Defense Motion for Not Guilty Verdict Overruled by Judge.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 2.—(AP)—Taking testimony closed this afternoon in the trial of Rogers Caldwell, president of the collapsed investment house, Caldwell and Company, on trial in criminal court on a charge of fraudulent breach of trust.

The defense immediately filed another motion for a directed verdict of not guilty, but Judge Chester K. Hart promptly overruled it. Defense counsel had filed a similar motion when the state finished with its testimony.

Several character witnesses, including judges, farmers, a college president and an undertaker, testified during the afternoon.

LEW CODY APPEALS U. S. TAX ASSESSMENT

WASHINGTON, July 2.—(AP)—An appeal from a deficiency income tax assessment of $22,616 was filed with the board of tax appeals today by Lew Cody, motion picture actor.

The internal revenue bureau assessed the amount after disallowing losses claimed by Cody in a film production venture and reducing the allowance for business expenses he claimed in a vaudeville tour. The assessment was levied for the years 1927 and 1928.

More Disease-Bearing Insects Than Usual This Year

TAKE PRECAUTION NOW—SPRAY ALL NOOKS AND CORNERS WITH KILL-KO—ITS DEADLY GAS KILLS ALL INSECTS

Because of the drought of last year, water is still low in a great many streams, swales and streams. Look out for Typhoid Fever germs carried by flies and mosquitoes and other insects.

Their dirty bodies reeking with filth and disease, these insects are a constant menace to health. They carry typhoid and other deadly germs into homes everywhere. "It's been a wonderful day for me considering the fact that I'm in jail," Manchester said. "I appreciate the cake and the cards I have received, but the best birthday gift I believe I could receive would be a commutation of my sentence."

LONGER MORATORIUM IS URGED BY GEORGE

CORDELE, Ga., July 2.—(AP)—Senator Walter George declared in an address here last night that President Hoover's moratorium would not have the desired effect if a period of one year's time only is allowed.

He said the principal benefit of the present plan is psychological and that the real hope of restoring economic stability is in the breaking down of trade barriers so that Germany and the allies can make payment.

Senator George added that as long as retaliatory measures existed so long will instability last and that possible repudiation of debts by the nations concerned may follow. He declared himself in favor of an honest protective tariff and believes the present tariff needs modification.

He stated he would support President Hoover in his moratorium plan on account of its psychological value.

Laura La Plante

In private life the wife of Bill Seiter, brilliant Hollywood director

Remember her portrayal of Magnolia in "Show Boat"? Her charm and spirit in "Meet the Wife"? It's not talent and beauty only that make Laura La Plante the star she is. It's hard work, and a fine physical strength that stands grilling hours in the studio. Miss La Plante herself says, "After a long day under the Kleig lights nothing picks us up more than a glass of fruit juice. Welch's Grape Juice for years has been a favorite of mine both on the lot and at home. I can think this delightful beverage for shortening many a long tiresome day."

WOODCOCK STRESSES MORAL ENFORCEMENT

Prohibition Director Declares Dry Agents Should Be Loyal, Efficient

UNIVERSITY, Va., July 2.—(AP)—Colonel Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of prohibition, addressing the Institute of Public Affairs today, emphasized the importance of moral forces in law enforcement and the need for loyal, efficient investigators in gathering evidence.

Colonel Woodcock said he saw no reason for any sweeping changes in federal procedure, except that the law and practice in removal cases needs clarification.

Recognizing, he said, that fear of punishment is an important factor in law observance, he declared his belief that "the moral forces are by far the more important and powerful." There are no limits, he said, to what may be done by education.

Standards for investigators in the prohibition department have been raised, he pointed out, defining as the ideal "a courageous, well-behaved, loyal, honest and intelligent investigator, who regards his work as a profession, and who is as zealous to protect the innocent as to bring the guilty to justice."

In detailing the difficulties of enforcement, Colonel Woodcock said the procedure of allowing United States commissioners to pass on removal has been, in some cases, the cause of prosecutions languishing for two or three years, or dying.

"There are no phase of federal criminal procedure," he said, "where the practice varies more widely or where there are, in some districts, more harassing delays and obstacles for prosecution."

Colonel Woodcock's address was criticized by John C. Gebhart, director of research for the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, who said it was unfortunate that the prohibition director confined his remarks almost exclusively to "technical phases of prohibition enforcement."

He said that the fundamental problems of enforcement... such as the lack of popular support, the failure of the states to co-operate, the crowding of federal courts and jails, the failure of enforcement to check the growth of the illicit liquor industry and the corruption of public officials that has grown out of prohibition enforcement... were practically ignored.

"These are the questions which concern the public far more deeply than technical matters of court procedure," Mr. Gebhart said.

"In our opinion the evidence which Colonel Woodcock presents is far from conclusive," he continued. "The fact that of the cases actually going to trial only 30 per cent result in acquittals, is not sufficient proof that juries will convict as readily in prohibition cases as in other types of criminal prosecutions."

WASHINGTON, July 2.—(AP)—The world's developed electrical waterpower was said today by the geological survey to have been doubled in the last ten years.

Estimates showed that from a developed horsepower of 23,000,000 in 1920 hydro-electric plants on the five continents had reached a horsepower of 46,000,000 by the end of 1930.

Although separate figures of gain were not given, the survey said Europe had slightly exceeded the increase shown by North America during the past four years.

Italy, Japan, Canada, Germany, Switzerland, Austria and Sweden were mentioned as countries showing the greatest increases outside of the United States.

The total developed waterpower, however, was contrasted with an available potential almost ten times as great. The survey gave 447,000,000 as the world's possible total. This was calculated on ordinary low water capacity, while many of the installations now in existence handle much more than low water flow.

The survey showed the United States had an installed capacity of 14,885,000 and a potential of 38,000,000, and that Canada had developed 6,125,000 of a potential 18,000,000 horsepower.

$15,000,000 INCREASE IN ROAD BUILDING
WASHINGTON, July 2.—(AP)—Expenditures during 1931 for federal aid, state and local roads combined will total $16,616,000,000, an increase of $15,000,000 over the calendar year 1930.

The bureau of roads canvassed the road program of the country at the request of President Hoover to determine the volume of construction current this year.

Federal aid for 1931 will total $230,807,000, compared with $106,648,000 for 1930, an increase of $124,159,000.

Some states have increased their expenditures for 1931, while others have made decided decreases.

The total increase for all the states amounts to $167,072,469.

The total decrease of all the states amounts to $152,129,361.

TAX BILL IS DELAYED BY ALABAMA SENATE

Income Levy Measure Is Killed After Debate of Two Hours.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 2.—(AP)—After two hours of debate, the Alabama senate voted today, 21 to 13, to indefinitely postpone the Goode income-tax amendment, authorizing the legislature to levy taxes on incomes.

Postponement has the effect of killing the measure.

The vote climaxed skirmishes through which leaders of the senate anti-tax-increase bloc, from the moment the measure was reported over from the house, sought to bring it to immediate action.

The senate passed the chain-store tax bill placing a levy on every retail merchant, graduated from $1 on single stores annually to $75 annually for all stores above 20 in a chain. Proponents said the levying of a tax on every retail store would make the act constitutional.

The bill for an increase of 1 cent a gallon on gasoline for highways, expected to come to a vote in the senate, was deferred to next week, but must be acted on Tuesday, as all revenue measures must be passed by the forty-fifth day of the session.

MISSISSIPPI LOWER THAN IN MANY YEARS
WASHINGTON, July 2.—(AP)—From the record flood of 1927, the Mississippi has swung to the other extreme. It has been lower on an average in 1931 than in any other recorded year and some of the records extend back to 1800.

Reports of army engineers show that the highest stage on the New Orleans gauge so far this year has been 6 feet, 7 inches.

In 1925, the lowest previous year, the gauge showed a maximum of 9 feet 3 inches and in 1885, the average high over a period of 75 years has been approximately 15 feet.

The lower water does not help the barge line, but it has accelerated the flood control work of the army engineers. More than 90,000,000 cubic yards of earth were moved in the fiscal year just ended as compared to 45,000,000 cubic yards in 1929.

BILL WOULD CUT JUDGES' SALARIES

Measure Providing Reduction in Fulton Is Offered in House.

Reduction in the salary of Fulton county judges from $12,000 to $10,000 annually was proposed in bills introduced in the house Thursday by Representatives McRae and Eckford.

Judges of the superior court, G. H. Howard, E. E. Pomeroy, John D. Humphries, Virlyn B. Moore and E. D. Thomas, would be cut under one bill while those of Hugh Dorsey and Jesse M. Wood, of the city court, would be reduced under the second. Luther Still, third member of the Fulton delegation, has announced he will oppose these bills as well as other McRae-Eckford bills to abolish the present board of five commissioners and set up a new board of three. Hearings on the latter bills, before the special judiciary committee, of which Representative J. S. Crawford, Floyd, is chairman, has been set for Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

In reply to charges of McRae and Eckford, concerning the county's change in its fiscal year, the board of commissioners Thursday announced that copies of a letter from Respass & Respass, certified public accountants, explaining that this change was at the instance of Atlanta banks, would be sent to all members of the general assembly.

County Commissioner Walter B. Stewart, who led the commission's opposition to the proposed changes at its meeting Wednesday, Thursday amplified his statement with a renewed attack, this one centered on Representative McRae.

"I'll appear at the committee hearing Tuesday and show the members of the house's group that every contention of the assemblyman is wrong," Commissioner Stewart said.

"He proposes to ignore the mandates of the people, who elected the five commissioners now holding office, and to bodily kick the commission out of office, and then place a hand-picked trio at the helm of county affairs. The people of Fulton county will not countenance any such procedure, and no fair-minded member of the legislature is going to support any such campaign of persecution. I believe the legislature wants to treat Atlanta and Fulton county fairly, and I feel sure that they will not permit a political racket to thus disrupt the government of the richest and most prosperous county in Georgia to satisfy any whim or to pay off a few political debts."

TORRID WAVE MOVES TOWARD EAST COAST

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The heat wave that scored the middle west for more than a week moved eastward Thursday into the Appalachian region.

Western Pennsylvania, western New York and north of Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky felt the scourge of a pitiless sun as the central states grew comfortable again under clouded skies and occasional showers. It was still hot in most of the southwest.

Thunderstorm conditions moving down the Atlantic seaboard gave some relief and threatened to break up the heat wave before it reached the coast.

"It will be hotter in the east," said government Forecaster W. P. Day, at Chicago, "but not nearly so hot as it was here."

Thermometers in the middle west that had held monotonously to 90 and 100 degree readings for a week fell down to 70 and 80 Thursday and the sun-baked populace considered it cool.

There were enough heat deaths.

Dog Survives Plunge Over Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 2.—(AP)—Men have lost their lives attempting a feat which a dog today accomplished successfully—the trip over Niagara Falls.

The dog leaped into the swift current in midstream just above the American falls. Sightseers saw the animal hurled clear of the rock pile at the base of the fall, and drop into a pool some distance out from the cataract. It swam about for a few minutes and then clambered on a flat rock.

A man waded out from shore and brought the dog in.

however, to bring the total to more than 1,100. Forty-four died in Chicago, many of them stricken on previous days. Cleveland added five more; St. Louis, where the official temperature Wednesday was 104, reported 10. Additional persons unable to stand the prolonged hot spell succumbed at scattered points through the stricken area.

The general forecast issued by the United States weather bureau said mostly fair weather with moderate temperatures was indicated for Thursday night and Friday in the north central states, preceded by local showers over portions of the Great Lakes and Ohio valley regions.

Relief was slow in coming to the southwest. Showers cooled off parts of northern Oklahoma, but most of the state was still hot. Rains and cloudy weather ended two weeks' dry, scorching spell in Missouri and Kansas. Precipitation was as much as 3.12 inches, recorded at Glen Elder, Kan. One to two inches in northeast Kansas was considered especially beneficial to the corn crop. Rain brought some relief to west Texas, but other sections of the state continued to smolder.

101 DEGREES REPORTED BY SAVANNAH BUREAU

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 2.—(AP)—Favoritism ceased to function here today and the thermometer broke out into spasms to go up to 101 degrees at 3:45 o'clock this afternoon.

The upward rush started at 6:40 o'clock this morning when the thermometer tallied 75 degrees for the day's minimum. The high today is the season's record. This is the hottest weather here since August and September, 1925, when 102 degrees was reached and the hottest in July since 1902 when 101 was reached. The hottest July was 105 degrees in 1879.

Last year the hottest day was July 23, when 100.2 degrees was registered. The breeze here today was from the west mostly and was hot, scattered to the cooler breezes from the east and southeast of the past few days.

AMERICA, FRANCE NEAR AGREEMENT

was that the conversations here are proceeding satisfactorily and that a special conference of the Young plan powers is not necessary.

The wireless telephone between Paris and Washington was worked hard tonight, and reports were circulated that representatives of the two nations had approached a point at which all differences would be ironed out.

Tomorrow's meeting is looked forward to with the keenest interest, for it is believed this might be the decisive session at which the negotiations would be concluded.

The fact that M. Flandin and not Premier Laval or M. Briand conferred with Mr. Mellon this afternoon was taken as an indication that the discussions now center entirely upon the technical financial aspects of the problem.

A semi-official note issued tonight said only that the negotiations are progressing in a satisfactory manner and it is now possible an accord will be reached quickly.

As the night wore on the feeling of optimism spread and belief became general that a definite accord might be announced at tomorrow morning's meeting.

It was learned that satisfactory progress has been made on the prob-

SUCCESSOR NAMED TO MISS BARKER

Teachers Also Elect Two Atlantans as Vice Presidents.

CHICAGO, July 2.—(AP)—Dr. Henry R. Linville, of New York, was elected president of the American Federation of Teachers today. He succeeds Mary C. Barker, of Atlanta, president since 1925.

The vice presidents chosen included Miss Barker and W. J. Scott, also of Atlanta, Ga.

Several of the 36 resolutions studied by committees were adopted by the teachers. Others are to be voted upon tomorrow. The delegates declared themselves opposed to cuts in teacher salaries and in favor of a campaign to reduce unemployment.

Other resolutions opposed partisan domination of schools, efforts to curb academic freedom, introduction of religious issues in institutions of learning, rating of teachers, and all forms of military training in schools because "it tends to create a war mind, thus making possible another war which may wreck or undermine our civilization."

Resolutions adopted also favored compulsory full-time education for pupils up to the age of 16, and part-time attendance up to 18 in all laboring and manufacturing industries.

It was recommended that, to save taxpayers' money, school buildings hereafter be of simple design and ornamentation.

The arms limitation conference to be held in Geneva in 1932 was endorsed. The federation appealing to President Hoover to appoint a labor representative on the American delegation.

lem which offered one of the greatest difficulties—that of how France will handle the guarantee fund for which she is responsible under the Young plan in case Germany should declare a moratorium. It is understood the basis of the proposed agreement on this point is that France will deposit French treasury bonds with the Bank for International Settlements.

WASHINGTON OPTIMISTIC ON CURRENT OUTLOOK

WASHINGTON, July 2.—(AP)—Strong indications that France and America were approaching an agreement satisfactory to each on a debt moratorium plan were evident tonight in official circles.

After a trans-Atlantic telephone conversation with Secretary Mellon, Acting Secretary Castle of the state department said he was "very optimistic" over the prospects for an accord.

Officials declined to comment on the course which the discussions are now following, or the exact reasons for their sudden optimism.

The two nations are compromising on their divergent views between the American stand for 25 years and the French stand for five years in which suspended German reparations payments would be refunded.

American is firmly maintaining her position that credits established from continued payments of Young plan conditional annuities must be available only to Germany. The French have been informed that should Jugoslavia (Rumania) and Czechoslovakia need credits they can be provided in the usual way.

There were no indications as to what was being done by the American stand that credits in the bank for international settlements must be available to the German government for budgetary uses. France insisted that such credits should be accorded only to German industry.

The French sought an adjustment of their demand for relief from guarantee deposits should Germany declare a moratorium in the future.

The American memorandum delivered to the French government yesterday answered this point in part, by asserting none would consider France obligated to make the deposits during the one year's moratorium contemplated by the president's plan.

BRITISH READY TO CALL YOUNG PLAN CONFERENCE

LONDON, July 2.—(AP)—The British government intervened dramatically tonight in discussions of President Hoover's moratorium plan by announcing its "willingness" to hold a conference of the powers chiefly concerned if the negotiations at Paris should break down.

The Associated Press learned that Great Britain has advised France that the French proposal regarding the Hoover plan constitutes an entire alteration of the Young plan in regard to the question of guarantees, and it is understood the proposals are unacceptable to Great Britain.

Officials would not confirm this information.

British official anxiety concerning the trend of events, and the urgency, are reflected in a brief communique which announced the government's decision.

"Should no early solution be found," the communique said, the government "have expressed their willingness—in order that an agreement should be reached with a minimum of delay—to hold a meeting of the powers chiefly concerned at an early date."

Commentators agreed tonight that the phrase, "early solution—minimum of delay—early date," gave a clear indication of the government's belief that delays are dangerous.

A curious feature of the communique is that it makes no mention of a site for the proposed conference, but the natural assumption is that a gathering held under British auspices would occur at London.

Moreover, despite reports from Paris, it is not "signatories to the Young plan" which are envisaged as attending this conference, but "the powers chiefly concerned" in the Hoover proposal.

It was pointed out tonight in well-informed circles that the difference between what the British government actually said and what the Paris newspapers seem to believe it said might make all the difference as to whether the United States would attend such a conference.

It is pointed out meanwhile that the British offer is entirely contingent on a breakdown at Paris, and that the communique begins by expressing an earnest hope that negotiations there will succeed.

Paris remains very much the center of events, and the British government is keeping in close touch with its ambassador, Lord Tyrrell, who is having conversations with Aristide Briand, the French foreign minister, on the rapidly changing situation.

For the present, the British attitude may be regarded as unchanged. Great Britain accepted the Hoover proposal with all its implications and made her own contribution by enforcing a moratorium on inter-imperial war debts.

LEBRIX AND DORET TO ATTACK RECORD

PARIS, July 2.—(AP)—Joseph Lebrun and Martin Doret, noted French fliers, said tonight they hoped to start from Le Bourget field in an aerial 24 hours' non-stop round-the-world flight in the Post-Gatty record.

Their plane, Trait D'Union, is fueled and ready at the field and the fliers are awaiting the weather. Doret said they would leave as soon as the weather permits "in the direction of Tokyo."

The day began for Harold Gatty, navigator of the flight, when his wife, entered his room at his hotel and awakened him shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Gatty and Mr. and Mrs. Post, together with Florence C. Hall, millionaire oil man who backed the flight, breakfasted lightly and then the procession of welcome began.

There was no privacy for the fliers or their wives. New York's enthusiasm for the feat had been photographed again and again. Between trips from the pilot house to the newspaper photographers or to the "back room" where they were besieged by reporters and members of the mayor's reception committee, all desirous of learning the details of their flight.

It took little, however, and probably thanked the nearly incessant roar of sirens for the "quiet" it gave.

Both fliers held make some of the noise of their own reception. They pressed the levers of their cameras, photographed again and again. Between trips from the pilot house to the newspaper photographers or to the "back room" where they were besieged by reporters and members of the mayor's reception committee, all desirous of learning the details of their flight.

It was there that New York gave its loudest welcome. The roar of tugs, boats and ferries joined in adding to the roar as fireboats three streams of water into the air and crowds ashore waved wildly.

Up Broadway to city hall the fliers rode atop the back seat of an automobile while ticker tape and paper fell about them. Mr. Hall, the flight leader, followed in another car in which also rode their official New York hostess, Miss Evelyn Wagner, secretary of Mayor Walker.

Mrs. Post wore a dark blue dress with white polka dots, a blue turban and black shoes. Mrs. Gatty was dressed in a red dress and red shoes and beret she wore when she arrived.

Gatty and Post were hatless, the former in a light tan suit and Post in a navy blue suit.

Strung out in a long line behind came two score automobiles bearing members of the mayor's committee, newspaper reporters and photographers.

At city hall, Mayor Walker extended the official greeting, saying they had "written another page into the history of our city, a page which would make for greater progress, greater happiness and greater thrill to civilization itself."

He presented each with medals significant of the esteem in which the city held them.

Post and Gatty responded briefly, saying merely they "appreciated the reception given us by New York."

Leaving city hall, they again were besieged by photographers and then put aboard their automobile for the ride to their hotel.

Traffic was at a standstill on Fifth avenue as the string of cars sped by, between curbs filled with shouting thousands and windows from which other thousands peered. As far as the eye could see along side streets, cars of persons seeking a glimpse of the men stood in silent tribute.

Back at the Ritz, they were ushered in through a side door for the luncheon given by Mayor Walker. Among those to join them there were Colonel Lindbergh, Bertie Balchen, William Brock, Clarence Chamberlin and James Fitzmaurice, all of whom have aided in the writing of aviation's history by trans-Atlantic flights.

After the luncheon, Post and Gatty had a chance to add a few more hours of sleep to the 24 they got last night. Between 3 and 8 p. m. they were free but at the latter hour the makers of their plane and engine and Florence C. Hall, backer of their flight, ordered a dinner for them at the New York Athletic Club. One hundred and fifty guests were invited.

Mrs. Gatty and Mrs. Post were evening guests of Elinor Smith, aviatrix and radio announcer, and Miss Wagner at the play, "The Crazy Quilt."

WEEK-END ABOARD YACHT PLANNED FOR WORLD FLIERS

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP)—The New York City which Wiley Post and Harold Gatty have been looking forward to will be theirs on a yachting trip over the week-end.

They will be guests with their wives and E. C. Hiss and daughter of William C. Todd, the shipbuilder, on the yacht Selmo, going aboard at 3 p. m. tomorrow and cruising in nearby waters until late Sunday.

LINDBERGH FAR ECLIPSED WELCOME TO POST, GATTY

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP)—The reception New York gave to Wiley Post and Harold Gatty today wasn't so big as the one for Colonel Lindbergh—not by 67 tons.

When street cleaners got through sweeping up the ticker tape, confetti and torn newspapers that showered on the globe-girdlers, they found it weighed a little more than three tons.

For Lindbergh there was 70 tons, but since that time the popularity of paper snowstorms has declined with each new welcome.

HOOPER CONGRATULATES AVIATORS ON CONQUEST

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty today received the following telegram from President Hoover congratulating them on their record-shattering round-the-world flight:

"Your successful world girdling flight is a striking contribution to aeronautical progress. It is dramatic testimony to the efficiency and reliability of American aircraft. It demonstrates vividly how modern science is making neighbors of all the nations of the world. America is proud of you in the hour of your extraordinary success. You have enhanced faith in the art of flying and the science of air navigation. I congratulate you most heartily on your achievement. I look forward with pleasure to seeing you at the White House Monday."

SEGREGATE VICE, BUILDING OWNERS ASK POLICE BODY

Thursday night, when Milligan told Chief of Police James L. Beavers that he did not agree with a statement of the chief that anti-liquor laws cannot be enforced in Atlanta "with the present force."

Beavers reiterated his statement, adding: "I do not see how the law can be enforced with the present inadequate department."

"It is bad to tell the public so, and encourages the bootlegger to believe he is secure in law violations," Milligan countered. The discussion ended there.

Captain A. J. Wright, of the identification bureau, was voted $150 to attend the seventeenth annual convention of the International Police Investigation Bureau, but Milligan warned he will appeal to the courts "to prevent the expenditure with Atlanta already bankrupt."

Chief of Police A. W. Lilly, of Decatur, was granted full authority and pledged very co-operation of the Atlanta department in development of a police radio system for that borough. Calls from Decatur will be handled by the Atlanta department and every exchange of courtesy possible to make the hook-up effective will be given at "least for the time being" under a decision of the committee.

Alderman Alvin Richards, chairman of the committee, proposes to attempt to interest other boroughs and Fulton and DeKalb county in a co-operative plan for extension of the Atlanta police radio service, he said.

HOUSE AND SENATE SPLIT THREATENS

ocratic state executive committee and prominent Georgians, encouraged this optimism.

The Duckworth-Weekes-Harris bill would make it unlawful for "any corporation, voluntary association or person other than a duly licensed attorney at law to practice or appear as an attorney at law for any person other than themselves in any court of this state or before any judicial body, or to make it a business to practice as an attorney at law for any person other than themselves, in any of said courts, or to hold themselves out to the public as being entitled to practice law, or to render or furnish legal services or advice."

The bill would not prohibit a person, corporation or voluntary association "from examining the records of titles to real property" nor from preparing abstracts.

Section 3 of the bill provides: "Any attorney at law who solicits legal employment, as defined in the first section of the bill, by any means, directly or indirectly through another shall be deemed guilty of corrupt and deceitful practice and upon being found guilty of such acts by a court of competent jurisdiction, shall be dishonored."

The house ways and means committee postponed action on bills designed to sell Western & Atlantic railroads, and to sell the railroad itself and terminal facilities in Atlanta and Chattanooga.

The rental bill, practically the same as one adopted by both houses of a preceding legislature in special session, will be taken up on Tuesday, and the bill calling for sale of the road will be considered on Thursday.

It is also planned on Tuesday to consider a bill which would place a corporation or voluntary association, telephone and telegraph utility companies.

Absence of Willis Battle, Muscogee, and Marion Allen, Baldwin, authors of the W. & A. rental bill, caused postponement of the measure while J. Z. Dorsett, of Carroll, author of the bill to sell all state-owned railroad properties requested delay while he secured additional information. Charles E. Stewart, Coffee county, likewise requested that his utility tax bill not be considered today.

The Stewart bill was read, however, and provides a tax of $2 on each $100 gross receipts of electric, gas, telephone and telegraph companies. A 10 per cent penalty would be imposed by the comptroller-general for failure to return gross sales. The bill provides punishment of a misdemeanor for those who would avoid its provisions.

The Battle-Allen discount plan calls for sale of 10 years' rental of the W. & A. Former Governor Hardman vetoed the measure as passed by the general assembly earlier this year, and it failed to pass the senate over his veto. Governor Russell has recommended sale of the rentals as one means of meeting a debt emergency in the state.

The bill to sell the entire railroad property was not discussed today.

The senate agriculture committee today approved a resolution which would give Georgia's approval to a federal act providing for greater development of agricultural extension work. A bill permitting use of peanut products in feedstuffs also was approved.

The county and county matters committee of the senate approved a bill which would place the Towns county treasurer on a salary basis and another which would abolish tax receivers and collector of Grady county and create a tax commission.

Abolition of the public service commission, the securities commission, the insurance commission and the state banking department were sought in a bill introduced by Representative Mattox, of Columbia, who would substitute a corporation commission to take over the duties of four agencies.

The house concurred in a senate resolution inviting United States Senator Walter F. George to address a joint session at his convenience. It has previously invited Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Representative Strickland, of Haralson, introduced a bill to prohibit members of the general assembly from voting on measures in which they are financially interested or in which they hold the power of attorney.

A new reapportionment bill made its appearance, having been offered by Representative Walker, of Ben Hill. Members of the special subcommittee, which will draft a reapportionment bill, will meet for the first time Monday. The subcommittee does not expect to hold public hearings.

Numerous fish and game bills hit the hopper. Prawn fishing would be limited to August and September under the one offered by Representative Coleman, of Glynn. Others affected the taking of shad during closed season and another provided for the appointment of a tidewater commissioner.

Action on three senate measures Thursday was postponed until Tuesday in order that the provisions may be studied. One is a resolution by President W. Cecil Neill to inaugurate the governor in January and hold a 10-day session of the general assembly during that month, to be followed by the regular biennial session of 60 days. The others are bills designed to prohibit corporation practice of law and to provide for rules and regulations for admission to the bar.

A proposed amendment to the bar admission bill would fix the qualifications for standing examinations and would allow anyone with a high school education and two years in an accurate law school or three years study in a law office to stand the examination. The bill would authorize the justices of the supreme court to fix requirements for admission to the bar. An amendment offered for the corporation practice bill would prevent the legal practice ban from applying so as to prohibit a mercantile collection agency from employing an attorney.

New bills introduced Thursday in senate included a proposed pension to widows of Confederate veterans married prior to 1891, the present law setting 1881 as the deadline. Another new measure would create a board of examiners for contractors, and a third would amend the fee distribution occupational tax of 1929 so as to provide for monthly instead of quarterly distribution of the funds to the counties. The state librarian would be instructed to furnish only three copies of the acts and three of the senate and house journals to each county, under another bill.

With the Fourth of July just one day away, little activity is expected in the legislature today. Leaves of absence granted by the senate Thursday totaled 17, leaving 34 senators to transact business. A quorum is 28. An effort to adjourn until 11 o'clock Monday morning, made by Senator E. L. Williams, of the twenty-seventh, was lost when Senator John C. Evans, of the nineteenth, objected to granting unanimous consent for such an adjournment after a motion to adjourn until today had passed.

The county and county matters committee of the senate Thursday approved two local bills. One places the treasurer of Towns county on a salary basis, and the other combines the tax receiver and tax collector of Grady county into a tax commissioner.

The agriculture committee of the senate approved a bill permitting peanut products to be used in feedstuffs and a resolution assenting to a congressional act providing for development of agricultural extension work.

FRIENDSHIP . . . in business

SOME people try to kid themselves that there is no sentiment in business today.

Yet, somehow, all of us desire to do business with people we like and we usually avoid doing business with people we don't like.

As our business enters its ninth year, we are proud to say that many of our customers are our friends, and many of our friends are our customers. But we're prouder to say that we've never asked our friends to accept an inferior grade of work or overlook any of our shortcomings (yes, we admit we have a few) because they are friends.

EXTRA SESSION LOOMS ON TENNESSEE DEFICIT

Legislators, Near Adjournment, Agree To Skip Revenue Bills.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 2.—(AP)—As the sixty-seventh Tennessee general assembly prepared for a sine die adjournment today, all hope of averting an extraordinary session was abandoned by administration forces.

With the state facing a deficit for the next biennium estimated by Governor Henry H. Horton as approximately $8,000,000, an adjournment agreement was reached prohibiting the consideration of revenue or bond bills sufficient to take care of the anticipated deficiency.

HEAT IN LOUISVILLE CLAIMS SIX LIVES

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 2.—(AP)—Six persons died from heat prostration in Louisville today, bringing the state's total deaths during the heat wave to 27, eight of which were drownings. Two died in Louisville and two in Davies county yesterday.

A brief rain today forced Louisville temperatures down from 93 to 84 degrees, but the mercury soon after rose to 97.

Court Quits Dispute Over Youth's Statute

LOS ANGELES, July 2.—(AP)—As far as Superior Court Judge Lester W. Roth is concerned, Adolph Roomer Jr., 14, who is more than six feet tall and weighs 225 pounds, can keep right on growing.

The court has refused to take any further part in the contest over his custody between the youth's parents, arising from the boy's abnormal growth.

Previously he had ordered the boy to submit to medical treatment prescribed by his father, a physician, so the growth might be stopped. The boy refused to submit to the treatments and the mother, with whom he was left, said she would let the boy decide for himself.

The father sought to have Mrs. Roomer cited for contempt of court and asked the boy's custody. The court refused the father's request.

BETHLEHEM'S BONUS INJUNCTION DISMISSED

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 2.—(AP)—Vice Chancellor Charles M. Schwab announced tonight that he had dismissed the injunction which minority stockholders of Bethlehem Steel Corporation obtained several months ago in their objection to the bonus plan instituted by Charles M. Schwab.

Announcement of the dismissal came a few hours after stockholders of the corporation meeting in Newark had approved a substitute bonus plan whereby a bonus of 8 per cent would be allowed after allowances for depreciation.

Counsel for those who brought the suit announced this afternoon that the action would be withdrawn. Under the injunction stockholders at the annual meeting in this city in April were permitted to vote upon approval of Schwab's plan, but the secretary of the corporation was restrained from entering the vote in the minutes as a formal approval.

STOCKHOLDERS FAVOR
SCHWAB BONUS PLAN
NEWARK, N. J., July 2.—(AP)—Stockholders of Bethlehem Steel Corporation today approved changes in the bonus system recommended by Charles M. Schwab, chairman, and the board of directors.

Their statement was made after Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the corporation, outlined changes in the bonus system recommended by himself and the board of directors. Counsel for the protective committee said they were in agreement with Schwab's plan.

The plan provided that executive bonuses shall be based upon consolidated net income of the corporation and its subsidiaries after deducting fixed charges and depreciation and annual dividends on the outstanding preferred stock, excluding any shares of preferred that may be held in the treasury.

"The term 'depreciation' shall be deemed to include depletion and obsolescence," Mr. Schwab's statement said. "The rates and basis of depreciation shall be such as the auditors of the corporation shall approve, and the total annual amount of the depreciation shall be reported to and be subject to the approval of the board of directors. The chairman shall inform those of the directors who shall not be entitled to receive any bonus payments of the allocation of the total percentage among the various participants."

The action was taken at a special meeting at which Mr. Schwab outlined the changes and at which counsel for the stockholders protective committee announced they agreed with the plan and that the suit against the corporation's former bonus system will be withdrawn. After the vote on the changes the meeting was adjourned until July 6, by which time it was said the court order against the former plan will have been withdrawn.

VATICAN DEMANDS CLUB REOPENING

VATICAN CITY, July 2.—(AP)—The Vatican has taken the position that Premier Mussolini must reopen the Catholic clubs he closed May 30 before "amicable discussions" to settle the controversy between the holy see and the government can begin.

It was learned today that in its note to the government yesterday the Vatican demanded proof of the government's statement that clubs which meet in the chancery buildings in Rome and enjoy extraterritoriality, have engaged in seditious discussions.

The Vatican also insisted on most adequate excuses for insults to the pope.

51 RACE APPLICATIONS ARE FILED IN FLORIDA

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 2.—(AP)—Fifty-one applications for permits to operate horse and dog racing tracks in Florida next winter were before the state racing commission today as it completed its check of bids filed before the time expired last midnight.

Twelve applications reached the commission just in time to be included in the tabulations. Six were for horse tracks, making 20 applications in all for tracks where the thoroughbreds would run. Six were for dog tracks, bringing this class to a total of 31.

CHICAGO OPERA LOSS RUNS PAST MILLION

CHICAGO, July 2.—(AP)—A loss of $1,079,473.06 by the Chicago Civic Opera Company for its 13 weeks of operations in the civic opera house last fall and winter was reported today.

The figure was estimated to be nearly twice as much as the amount subscribed by the company's guarantors.

Samuel Insull, one of the company's sponsors, said the difference between the loss and the payments made by the guarantors was made up by advances from the Chicago Music Foundation.

J. H. Spears, owner of the lumber mill, estimated the damage at $50,000. It was partly covered by insurance, he said.

The rains early today were heaviest along the Watauga and Nolichucky rivers and in the vicinity of Elizabethton and Roan mountains.

BEATEN BY POLICEMEN, NEW YORKER ARRESTED

Small Welcoming Accused of Attacking Large Officer.

MINEOLA, L. I., July 2.—(UP)—Edward Conneron, vice president of Air Services, Inc., severely beaten by policemen at Roosevelt field last night during the reception given Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, was placed under arrest in the Nassau County hospital today on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The complaint against Conneron, who is 5 feet 3 inches tall, was signed by Policeman Herbert Neillich, who stands 6 feet 3 inches and claims Conneron attacked him on the field.

According to Conneron's version, he had just driven up to the press booth at the field with some cameras and movie films when an officer told him he could not stop his car there. Conneron tried to explain that since his firm holds property at the field he was entitled to be there, he said, but an officer jumped on the running board of his car and shut off the switch. He pushed the policeman off the car, according to his version, whereupon several officers dragged him out of the car, clubbed him to the ground and then jumped on him.

He was taken to the hospital with a possible fracture of the skull and other injuries. A policeman was posted beside his bed after his arrest today. His attorney said today that he will ask the district attorney's office to investigate.

American, French Flying Duos Hope to Cut 'Round-World Record

BY W. W. CHAPLIN.

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP)—In the world-questing work that Magellan began and gave his life for, more than 400 years ago, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty have reduced the circumference of the world, in terms of time, to 8 days 15 hours and 51 minutes. But the record is also threatened and may fall within the month.

Post and Gatty went around the world far faster than any man in history, faster even than any fictional character of man's imagination, but already new aspirants have entered the lists in man's never-ending conflict with time and space.

One pair of American fliers was waiting only word of good weather at Roosevelt field tonight when a pair of Frenchmen, at Le Bourget, Paris, revealed their hope of starting around the globe "in another 24 hours." This sudden announcement came from Joseph Leblanc, former flying partner of Dieudonne Coste and Martin Dorel. Both are famed French aviators.

They said they hoped to lower the Post-Gatty time, and would fly "to Tokyo." Their plane is named the "Traité D'Union" or The Hyphen. It stands fueled and ready to soar away from the port at which Lindbergh ended his trans-Atlantic crossing.

After Post and Gatty came Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon. It is their dream to fly around the world in less than a week, in an even six days if they "get the breaks."

The Pangborn-Herndon Bellanca is a slower ship than the Winnie Mae, Post and Gatty's Lockheed, but it has a much greater cruising range. It is equipped to travel 5,500 miles without a halt, and on that fact the new aspirants for world speed pin their hopes.

Because of their more limited cruising range and because Post was doing all the flying and had to sleep a few hours occasionally, the Winnie Mae made 13 intermediate stops with the result that the elapsed time was almost twice the actual flying time.

Because Pangborn and Herndon can alternate at the controls, one flying while the other sleeps, they expect to cut the ground time to a minimum, thus reducing the total, although they have no hopes of lowering the flying time.

It is their dream that they can make the 16,000-mile flight with only three intermediate stops, and those only for long as it takes to refuel. Their first scheduled stop is Moscow, the next some point in eastern Siberia and the third in Canada.

They feel that under favorable conditions they can circle the globe with a flying time of 5 days and 18 hours. Post and Gatty were only in the air 4 days 10 hours and 8 minutes. But Pangborn and Herndon expect to cut their time on the ground to an even six hours as against the more than four days Post and Gatty spent in stops for fuel and rest. This would give Pangborn and Herndon an elapsed time of just six days.

Pangborn, who is 35, is older than either of the Winnie Mae crew and Herndon is younger than either, being only 25. Post is 32 and Gatty 28. Pangborn and Herndon are a sort of composite Post as far as experience goes. Both have been barnstormers, and that Dr. James Kimball, of the weather bureau, might fire the mythical starting gun for ocean flights at dawn on Saturday.

THREE ARE ARRESTED IN EXTORTION PLOT

Erskine Ramsey, Birmingham Capitalist, Receives Threatening Letters.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 2.—(AP)—Three men said by Chief of Police Fred McDuff to be held in connection with sending threatening letters to Erskine Ramsey, Birmingham capitalist, were in jail here today.

The three gave their names as C. H. Culpepper, Farris Culpepper, 25, brothers, and George Traggesser, all of Birmingham.

McDuff said receipt of a threatening letter demanding that $5,000 be left under an automobile on a side street last night was reported at the Ramsey residence yesterday.

Police were notified and when Mr. Ramsey's chauffeur was sent to the place designated last night with a dummy package the chauffeur tossed the package under the automobile and C. H. Culpepper and Traggesser, sitting in the machine, were arrested and a third man escaped. Farris Culpepper was arrested later at his residence.

McDuff said all three of the men admitted taking part in the plot.

so got the money to buy his first plane.

Weather reports today indicated bad weather over the first part of the world route, but there were indications that it might clear tomorrow and that Dr. James Kimball, of the weather bureau, might fire the mythical starting gun for ocean flights at dawn on Saturday.

Cuban Publishers Fight Sword Duel
HAVANA, July 2.—(AP)—Alfredo Hornedo, publisher of the newspaper El Pais, and Jose L. Rivero, publisher of Diario De La Marina, fought a duel with swords on a farm ten miles from here this afternoon, but neither received satisfaction and both refused to shake hands when it was over.

Hornedo had challenged Rivero as an outgrowth of an editorial attack in the latter's newspaper. Two score spectators, most of them government officials, witnessed the encounter.

Neither was wounded in five fighting periods and Professor Jose M. Rivas, who had been chosen as judge, stopped the encounter at that point in accordance with the Spanish rules.

SHERIFF'S SON KILLED DURING LIQUOR RAID

Alabamian Hunted After Lad Succumbs to Shotgun Wounds.

FLORENCE, Ala., July 2.—(AP)—While a posse sought Wilburn Turman, 34, of Collinswood, Tenn., Jake Scott Jr., 8, son of Sheriff Jake Scott, of Wayne county, Tennessee, died at a hospital here last night of gunshot wounds, alleged to have been inflicted by Turman during a raid on his home yesterday afternoon.

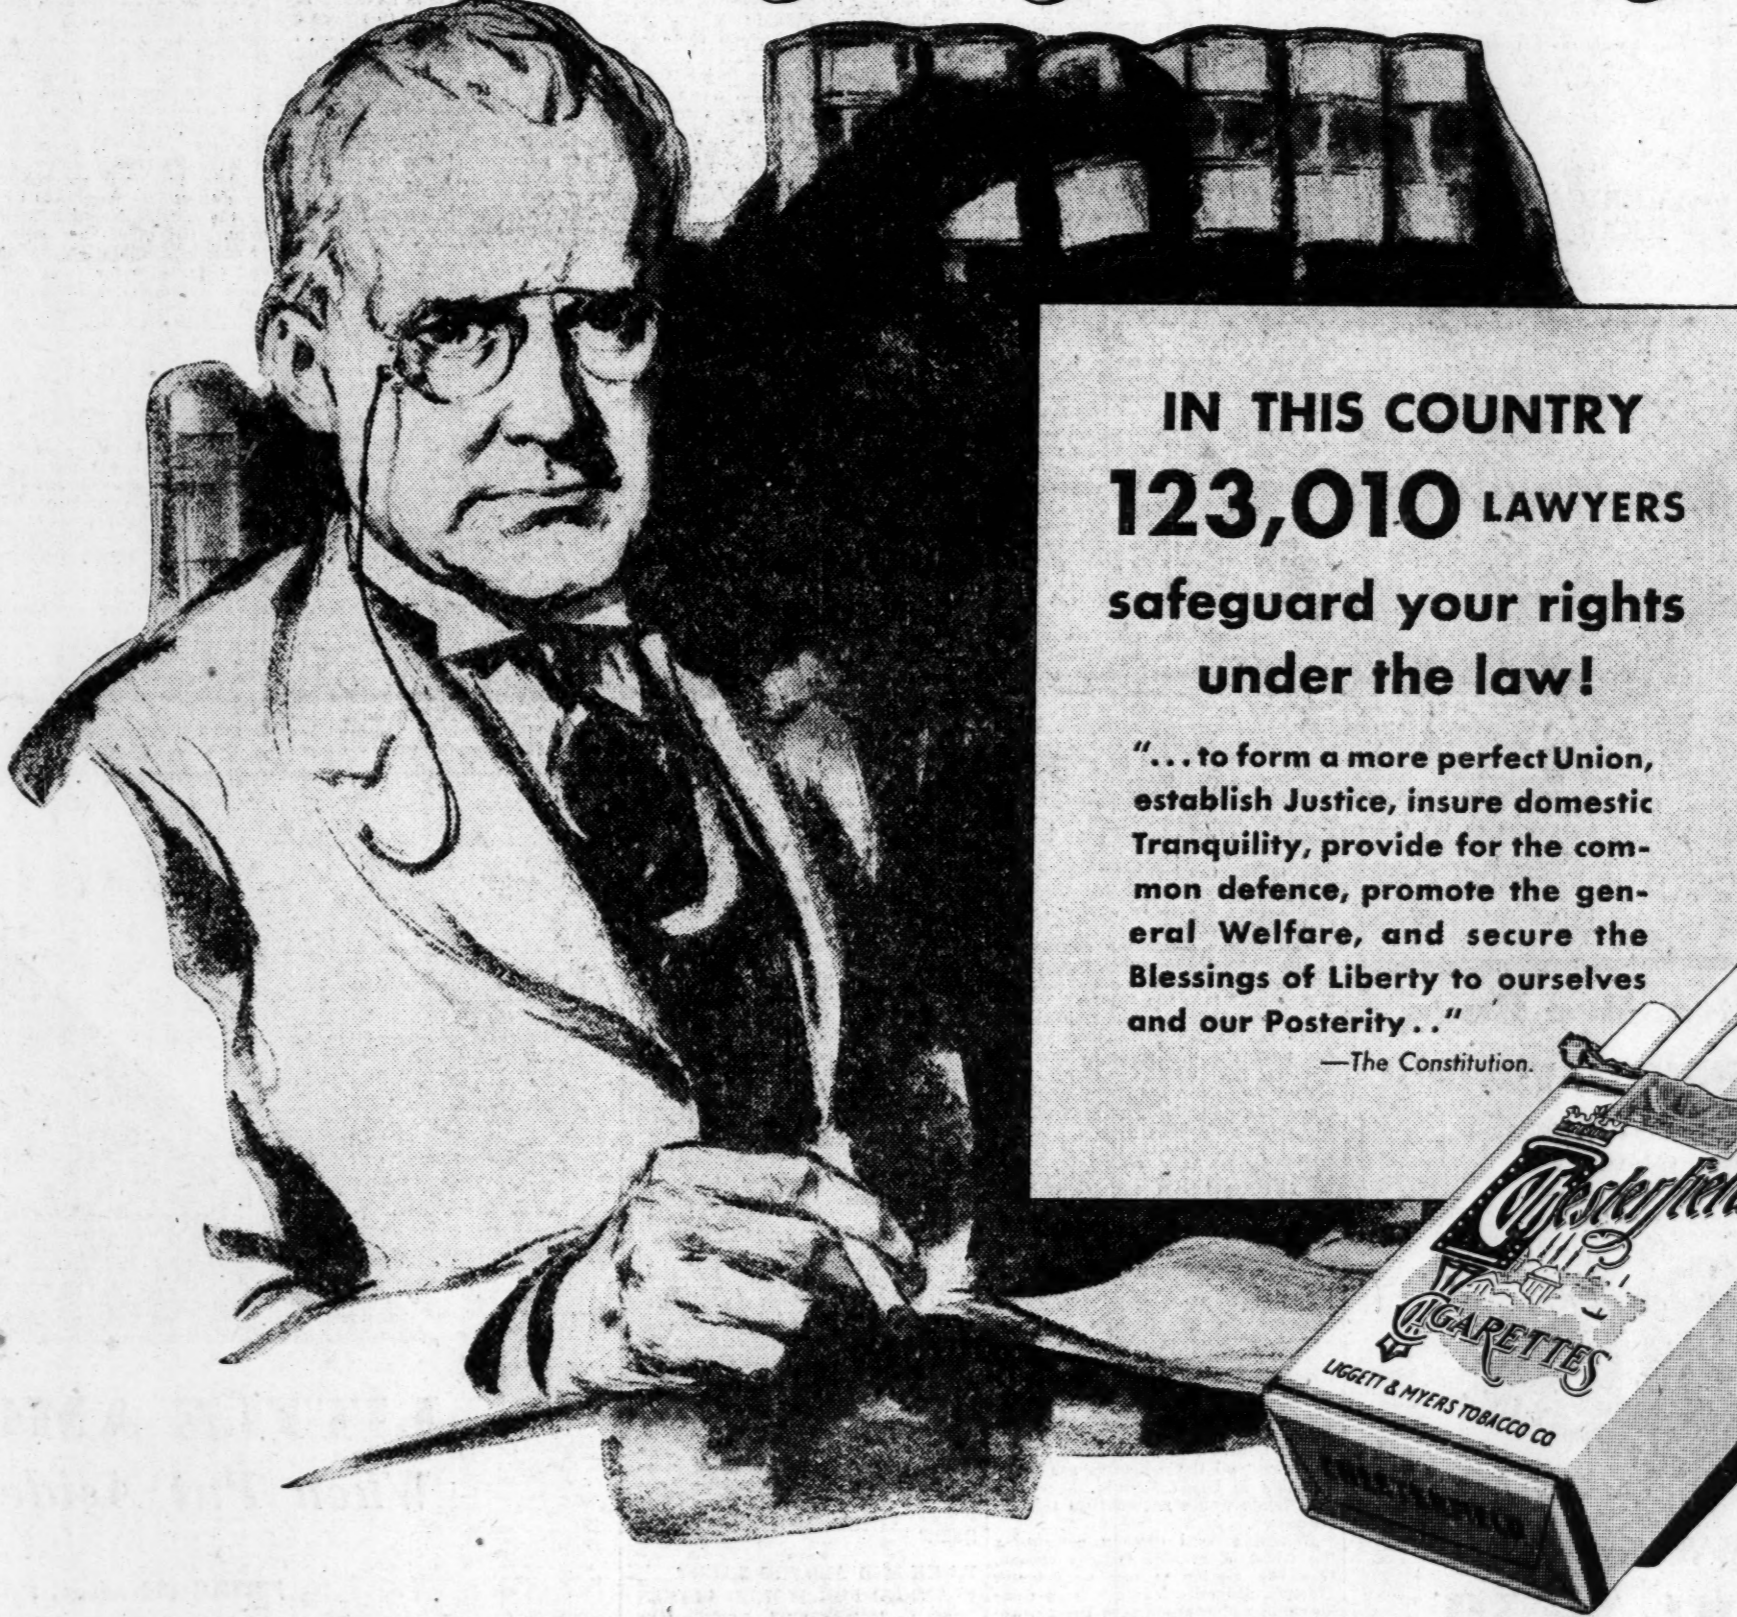

The boy was brought here by his father, who told physicians, whom he had accompanied to Turman's home, were leaving the place. Sheriff Scott was struck in the hand by one of several charges Turman was said to have fired from a distance of about 20 paces.

Young Scott, physicians said, received a full charge in the back and his death was due to loss of blood before reaching the hospital.

The shooting was said to have followed a search of Turman's home for liquor by Sheriff Scott and his brother, Charlie Scott, a deputy. Sheriff Scott swore out a warrant charging Turman with first degree murder, and a posse of 11 men immediately began a search for him.

Club Finances Discussed At Club Institute

ATHENS, Ga., July 2.—The club institute, conducted under the auspices of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, will close its three-day session here Friday at 1 o'clock with a luncheon at the Georgia State Teachers' College. Ninety women had registered for the institute today. Club finances were discussed today. Mrs. A. H. Brenner, Augusta, advised the clubs not to try to raise money through dues alone. There are numerous other ways of making money, such as rummage sales, entertainments, etc., she said. Speaking on finances for the state federation, Mrs. M. E. Judd, of Dalton, asked the women to support the state and national federations, as well as their local clubs. As to whether or not the dues to the club should be increased was discussed in an open forum.

The federation legislative program was explained by Mrs. J. K. Oitley, of Atlanta. A luncheon was served at the Georgia State College of Agriculture, and the delegates remained at the college for the afternoon session. The afternoon was devoted to fine arts and suggestions were made by art teachers at the summer school and by Miss Essie Campbell, state vocational home economics director, as to how the clubwomen may aid in introducing fine arts over the schools of the state. George Folsom Granberry, of New York; Miss Essie Campbell, Dr. J. S. Stewart, of Athens, and Mrs. Murphy Smith, of Dublin, gave short talks and Mrs. W. N. Harder led the poet's hour.

Culbertson on Contract

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

The Play Is the Thing

It is useless to bid a hand to the utter limit of its trick-taking capacity unless in the play the declarer is able to extract the last possible trick from the card combinations he holds in the closed hand and the dummy. It is chilly comfort, indeed, to realize as the scorekeeper is jotting down a penalty that sounder tactics would have resulted in game and rubber. Sometimes the most careful planning and most accurate play go for naught. These are the times when the goddess of chance is in one of her capricious moods but many a player believes his ill luck when he should be examining critically his play and studying the means to improve it. Bad breaks in cards are less frequent than bad "breaks" in play.

Recently I sat as a "kibitzer" in a Bridge club and watched the play of a rubber, which had been marked throughout by spectacular competitive bidding. Both sides were vulnerable when North dealt this hand:

| | | | | | |
|--------------|--|--|--|--|--|
| ♠ K Q 10 5 3 | | | | | |
| ♥ Q 7 6 | | | | | |
| ♦ 10 8 | | | | | |
| ♣ K Q 3 | | | | | |
| ♠ A J 9 8 4 | | | | | |
| ♥ K 10 5 4 | | | | | |
| ♦ K 7 6 | | | | | |
| ♣ A 3 2 | | | | | |
| ♠ 7 2 | | | | | |
| ♥ A K 3 2 | | | | | |
| ♦ A J 5 | | | | | |
| ♣ 9 8 7 6 | | | | | |

The bidding:

| North | East | South | West |
|------------|----------|---------|------|
| Pass (1) | Pass | 1♥ (2) | Pass |
| 2♦ (3) | Dbl. (4) | Pass | 3♦ |
| 3♥ (5) | Pass | 3NT (6) | Pass |
| Pass | Dbl. (7) | Pass | Pass |
| Redbl. (8) | Pass | Pass | Pass |

1—North actually has an Opening bid. His hand contains 2 1/2 honor tricks plus a Queen and a bid of 1♥ is not overbid. His partner, however, was overbold in his bidding and North felt that he should season the combined bidding with a pronounced dash of conservatism.

2—South's Third Hand bid is indicative of the spirit shown by the player throughout and bears out the statement in the note above.

3—North having passed an Opening bid and holding so much more than his partner can visualize, now makes a jump or forcing Takeout. This bid commits both partners to keeping the bidding open until a game contract is reached.

4—East was a player fond of making unsound Doubles. He felt, however, that it could do no harm and might act as a deterrent to a game bid by North and South.

5—North holds adequate support for his partner's bid suit and shows this fact by his bid of three hearts.

6—South indicates that his bid is a

Miss Morrisette Is Entertained.

MARIETTA, Ga., July 2.—Mrs. Edward Hunt and Mrs. William L. Vance Jr. were hostesses at a bridge party yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hunt on Forest avenue in honor of Miss Creswell Morrisette, a popular bride-elect. Included with Miss Morrisette were Mesdames Floyd Bland, William Stephens Jr., Hunter Morrisette and William Stephens Sr. Misses Mary Lawrence, Ida Brumby, Jennie Tate, Mollie Nolen, Elizabeth Pittard, Elizabeth Hodges, Trezevant, Elizabeth Fowler and Dorothy Ann Springer, of Las Cruces, New Mexico.

Misses Mary George Montgomery entertained forty guests at a lawn supper Saturday evening at their home on Cherokee street, in honor of their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Montgomery, of New York City, and their daughter, Mrs. Mark Mayes, of Tifton, Ga., who are their guests. A group from Atlanta were among the assembled party.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Collins were hosts at a chicken fry Wednesday evening at Ansted, Ga., entertaining about 25 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Wilcox, of Atlanta, were dinner guests Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. S. Raine Jr. at their home on Seminole drive.

Mrs. Fred Legg and Mrs. Johnnie Walker entertained 30 guests at a bridge Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Legg on Whitlock avenue.

Basco DuPre is visiting in Los Angeles, Cal., the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Campbell Wallace Sr. Later Mr. DuPre will go to Honolulu for the remainder of the summer.

Misses Mary Ellen Law and Charlotte Law will spend this week-end in Warrenton, Ga., guests of Miss Gretchen Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Daniell have returned from a visit with relatives in Seneca, S. C.

Mrs. J. W. Hancock and Miss Yrna Dawn Hancock left Tuesday to spend a month on Saint Simons Island.

Little Bettie Baskin entertained a children's party Monday afternoon at her home on Market avenue, in honor of her birthday.

Mrs. Ralph Fowler will entertain her bridge club this afternoon at her home on Church street.

Mrs. G. H. Hazood Jr. and her mother, Mrs. T. S. Bailey, of New-minimum and the heart suit probably of an only 200 points length by his bid of three no-trump.

7—East's Double is entirely unsound so far as values are concerned but had a rather sound basis in psychological factors. He felt there was a good chance to defeat a contract of four spades. He correctly read North and South as holding seven hearts. This would give his partner five hearts. Thus, if either North or South can be "frightened" into returning to the suit, East feels sure that either four hearts or four spades can be defeated.

8 North reasons that his own bidding has been absolutely sound. He believes there is a good chance to make the contract and that, at worst, it can be defeated only a single trick. With this situation the Redouble, risking the loss of an ace, is a sound play to gain a possible 310, is a sound risk.

West opened his fourth best diamond and East's Queen was captured by the Ace in the closed hand. South now led a club, which West, of course, won with his singleton Ace. Sensing the spade situation, West, whose last entry has been extracted, now leads a spade, which East takes and returns his last diamond. East had hoped for another spade in the West hand but West, in with the diamond King, is unable to lead that suit. His own hand is hopeless so he makes no attempt to clear the diamonds but leads a heart, which was won by the Diamond King and the 2 club tricks cashed. The declarer now has a perfect reading on the make-up of the hands. He returns to his own hand with a small heart and takes his last heart trick, following it with the diamond Knave. East is forced to discard one of his established clubs in order to prevent the making good of all of North's spades. North now leads his last club and East for the last 2 tricks is forced to lead helplessly up to the K 10 of spades to the dummy. The result is his redoubled contract of three no-trump.

Such playing situations as are described above are of quite common occurrence. The trouble is that we are prone to miss them because we are not alert to watch every development of the play and are not trained to correctly interpret the message conveyed to the expert player by the fall of every card. There are two types of players who have great difficulty in the manipulation of cards in the closed hand and dummy. One is the player who sees in the play only a crude laying down of Aces and Kings; the other is the player who attempts to make a problem of the play of simple hands. The expert is the player who plays simple hands in a simple manner but is always alert for the unusual situation and knows how to cope with it when it arises.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.
Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of this newspaper, enclosing a two-cent stamp, self-addressed envelope.

TALKING IT OVER BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

MY DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I have had the humiliating experience of losing my husband to another woman. He never takes me anywhere, but instead goes with her to parties and shows. I love my home and my flower garden and I have tried to make it an attractive place and a comfortable one. He makes a good salary but I get little of it. Please tell me what to do to bring a ray of sunshine into my dark heart.

My dear woman, you ask a mortal to lay a divine hand of healing on your sore heart and no mortal can do it. When the arctic explorers go on their long voyages to the polar regions they must prepare for the long, dark, cold arctic night. They must take light and heat and cover and warm clothes and amusements with them into their huts to await the day. They cannot change the course of the sun, nor can they accomplish any outside work until it shines. It is black darkness that they must endure knowing that in nature's time the sun that hides its face will beam on them once more. They have taken books and charts and instruments into the hibernation and they will work on them so when the day does dawn they are ready for the great adventure.

The sun is shining somewhere else but not on them. They are like you. You have taken into your dark, cold heart some interests that enable you to exist but no sun's ray can penetrate your darkness. Work on your charts so when the sun shines for you you will be ready for your great adventure. Your home is one interest. Your garden is one interest, and I am ready to call it the best a woman can have outside human relationships. The glory of a garden? It is in the garden that broken hearts find healing. It is in the garden that sterile spirits find life. It is in the garden that dead mortals find immortality. I know for I have dug in the dirt and found comfort and peace and happiness. It is here that one may till the fertile soil and plant dry seeds and watch them spring into glorious growth. It is here that one may see beauty reinvigorated, hope revived. But your mind and your muscle to work in your garden and see that life is full in the midst of emptiness and that death of earthly ambition is only the birth of spiritual ambition.

Among your friends is there not one into whose ear you may whisper the burning thoughts that have seared your soul? Is there no one who loves you and will understand? Such a one is hard to find, but once discovered will pay you for all your pains. There is no hunger in the human heart more imperative than the hunger for a friend. When you are happy you want some one to share it with you. Almost anybody will answer that purpose. When you are sad and heavy hearted you want some ear into which you may whisper your pain. But anybody won't answer that purpose. It must be a friend, tried and true.

The human heart will absorb sorrow as a sponge absorbs water. You can squeeze the water from the sponge by a firm pressure of the fingers. When it is water-laden it is sodden and heavy, but when it is squeezed dry it is velvet to the touch. So with the sorrow-laden heart. It is sodden and heavy, but when some friendly fingers have squeezed it dry it has a soft and velvet feel.

LAKE CARGO DISPUTE

ARGUED BEFORE I. C. C.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—(P)—The dispute between northern and southern bituminous coal operators over rate differentials on lake cargo shipments entered the final phase today as presentation of arguments before the interstate commerce commission.

Northern companies, comprising operators in western Pennsylvania and Ohio, attacked a so-called compromise rate structure of several years ago under which the rates from their mines to lake ports is from 35 to 50 cents a ton lower than those from southern fields. The northern companies contended a greater difference was necessary if they were to compete on an equal basis with the southern fields.

Georgia's invitation was supported by the Atlanta and Georgia Parent-Teacher Association, the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, the Atlanta and Fulton county school departments, the Georgia department of education and various governmental and civic organizations.

Atlanta has had in her bid for this convention since the Boston meeting in 1920, and the invitation was renewed at Denver in 1930 and again at Detroit last week. National officers expressed their pleasure at the selection of Atlanta for the next meeting place and will send Miss K. E. Baldwin here from the Washington headquarters to complete arrangements for holding this convention. Dates will be selected later, though it is customary to hold the convention in June.

Grantland Rice Sees Knockout Victory for Stribling Tonight

PA IS CONFIDENT STIBLING WILL WIN IN EARLY ROUND

Joe Jacobs Also Sure Max Will Stop W. L. Tonight.

CLEVELAND, July 2.—(AP)—From what the managers had to say tonight, it appeared there would be two knockouts tomorrow when Champion Max Schmeling and W. L. (Young) Stribling meet for the world's heavyweight championship.

The fighters were in seclusion tonight, but each of their managers freely predicted his scrapper would win by a knockout.

"Pa" Stribling, father-manager of the challenger, said:

"W. L. will win the title on a knockout within five rounds. He is in perfect shape, ready and eager. He has never been boxing better nor punching harder. I am certain he will bring the title back to America and to Macon, Ga."

Joe Jacobs, manager of the champion, insisted Schmeling would be the one to win by a knockout, but he said the fight might go ten rounds. "Max will take the fight on a knockout within 10 rounds," Jacobs said. "He is in much better condition than when he fought Sharkey last June. He is much stronger and his punching is heavier. He will clip the southerner with a few of those right hands and it won't last long."

Fox and Ball Park To Tune in Tonight

If you couldn't get away to go to Cleveland for the Stribling-Schmeling fight tonight, and have no radio, don't lose hope. All is not lost.

You may hear a blow-by-blow broadcast of the fight by listening to the Fox theater tonight, or by going to the Atlanta-New Orleans ball game at Spiller field.

Carter Barron, manager of the Fox, has announced that the performance will be interrupted at the moment Stribling enters the ring tonight, which will be somewhere in the neighborhood of 9 o'clock.

The fight broadcast then will be heard by the audience, and at its conclusion the regular performance will be resumed.

At Spiller field tonight, when the fight begins, the ball game will cease for the time being, and the loud speaker will be supreme. Who cares about baseball at a time like that, anyway?

McGill Picks Stribling For 5-Round Win

By Ralph McGill.

CLEVELAND, July 2.—William L. Stribling should win from Max Schmeling by a knockout within five rounds. He can hit as hard, box better and is faster. Should Max Schmeling prove unexpectedly strong and weather the attack he should still lose, as Stribling should win at least 10 of the 15 rounds.

The last word from Stribling tonight was given by Foye Boone, the Maconite, who has been with W. L. all through the training campaign. He is ready and in better shape than for any of his other fights, he said. He believes he'll win. And he'll go out fighting. If he does Schmeling may not last five rounds.

ATLANTANS OFF FOR GOLF MEET

Second Contingent of Stars Leaves for Sea Island Tourney.

Druid Hills players, with Julius Hughes, former city champion, and Vazzy Rainwater Sr., a veteran in state play, at the front, will head Atlanta's parade of golfers starting today for Sea Island Beach, where the Georgia amateur tournament starts Tuesday morning.

A large group of East Lake players together with others from Forrest Hills, Inglefield, Ansley Park, West End and Capital City, are slated to drive through to Sea Island Saturday in order to put in some practice rounds Sunday and Monday.

Charlie Yates Jr. and Berrien Moore Jr., youthful East Lake stars, left the city Wednesday and enjoyed their first practice rounds Thursday afternoon over the course on which the tourney will be played.

A majority of the Atlanta players in quest of title now held by Dave Black, Capital City star, will leave the city Sunday morning.

One of the largest groups in the history of Atlanta's golf will participate in the tourney next week.

A check at the various clubs reveals more than 75 entries, with many others yet undecided, ready to start play Tuesday morning in the qualifying rounds.

Capital City, with 25 players, will send the largest entry. It is a record for Atlanta clubs for tourneys out of the city.

East Lake and Druid Hills, with 14 each, share second honors, with Ansley Park, West End, Forrest Hills and Inglefield trailing with smaller numbers but with good representation of the best golfers in their respective clubs.

DON RACES SUNDAY.

GARDONE, RIVERA, Italy, July 2.—(AP)—Kaye Don, British sportsman, will attempt to lower his own world's speed record here Sunday. He said today after a trial run with his boat, the Miss England.

ETHER FIGHTER MAY WIN BY K.O., KIRKSEY SAYS

Stribling Has Excellent Chance To Knock German Out.

By George Kirksey, United Press Staff Correspondent.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 2.—(UP)—The two punches that promise to play the biggest part in deciding Friday night's heavyweight title bout are Young Stribling's long left hook to the head and Max Schmeling's short right, either to the body or the jaw.

The heavyweight title hasn't changed hands on a knockout since Jack Dempsey knocked Jesse Willard at Toledo July 4, 1919, but Stribling seems to have an excellent chance to win the crown by stopping Schmeling.

Stribling's two best punches are his long left hook to the head and his right to the body. Those two punches won him the right to meet Schmeling.

Schmeling's chin has never been given a thorough test by a sharp puncher. The German shook off the jaw of Jack Sharkey's best punches to the jaw in their bout, but Max still has to prove that he can stand up over a long bout against a sharp shooter. One of Johnny Risko's looping left hooks staggered Schmeling, but the Cleveland Rubber Boy is a mauler, not a puncher. The same is true of Paulino, who did not inflict any damage on Schmeling with his clubbing punches.

Schmeling has been knocked out three times before coming to this country. Max Dickman stopped him in four rounds in 1924. Larry Gains, who recently knocked out Paul Scott, scored a technical knockout over Schmeling in 1925, and Gypsy Dan Williams knocked the German out in one round in 1928.

NEVER KAYOED.

In 276 bouts Stribling has never been knocked out, and has been on the floor only three times. He has 127 knockouts to his credit in 276 bouts.

"Nobody ever hurt my boy," said "Ma" Stribling about his son. "One when he was knocked down he turned to us in the corner, and winked."

The chances are that if Schmeling lands his right squarely on Stribling's chin, it will hurt the Georgian. If the challenger can take the champion's best punch without it weakening him, he will bring the heavyweight title back to the United States.

Schmeling's left hand is not likely to bother Stribling much because the German doesn't seem to have perfected it. Schmeling's left jab sometimes is nothing more than an awkward push in the face. Stribling will have to be mighty slow to be bothered about Schmeling's left.

Most observers believe that if Stribling wins by a knockout, it will be inside of six rounds, and that if Schmeling wins by a knockout it will be somewhere about the tenth round, probably near the finish.

The last big heavyweight bout that ended in a knockout was Gene Tunney's technical knockout over Tom Heeney at Yankee stadium July 26, 1928. Referee Eddie Forbes stopped the fight in the 11th round with Heeney still on his feet, but unable to defend himself.

CLEVELAND RAIN Will Miss Fight

CLEVELAND, July 2.—(AP)—Showers that will cool the sweltering city tomorrow will leave the atmosphere clear and cool for the evening as the weatherman's forecast today for Max Schmeling's heavyweight title defense against Young Stribling tomorrow night.

Thunderstorms are expected during tomorrow but the rain will probably be over by midnight. In case a postponement is necessary the match will go over to the night of July 4.

CRACKERS SPLIT WITH PELICANS IN DOUBLE BILL

Atlanta Loses First, 11-4, and Wins Last, 3-2; Autry Hurt.

Atlanta divided a long-drawn-out double-header with New Orleans at Spiller field Thursday night but managed to retain third place in the Southern league standing as Memphis lost to Little Rock. The Crackers dropped the first game, 11 to 4, but won the midnight affair, 3 to 2.

New Orleans shelled Little Bunnies in the early innings of the first game with a barrage of base hits. Paul Gregory, the former Mississippi college star, was called to the rescue and after a shaky start settled down to hurl a good game in the latter innings.

Andy Messenger kept New Orleans at bay in the second game with the exception of the second inning, when bunched hits produced two runs. Ward, the leading hitter of the Southern league, hit the Pelicans in the first game, with four hits and a walk out of five trips to the plate.

Barnes led the attack for the Crackers in the early innings of the first game with a barrage of base hits. Paul Gregory, the former Mississippi college star, was called to the rescue and after a shaky start settled down to hurl a good game in the latter innings.

BEAVER WINNER OF JUNIOR TITLE

ANNISTON, Ala., July 2.—(AP)—Champions were crowned in two divisions of the Cotton States tennis tournament today as play in other sections neared final matches.

Judge L. Beaver, Gainesville, Ga., walked off with the junior singles title, defeating Harvey Harris, Raleigh, N. C., in their championship match. After dropping two games Beaver settled down and was never headed winning 6-3, 6-1.

Arthur Hendrix, Lakeland, Fla., defeated Ross Chesire, Atlanta, captured the junior doubles title by defeating Tommy Anderson, Nashville, and Harvey Harris, Raleigh, 7-5, 7-5, in a tough battle.

Quarter-final matches were completed in the men's singles, leaving William Hines, Columbia, S. C.; Robert Stewart, Pensacola, Fla.; Robert Lake, Birmingham, and Lenoir Wright, Charlotte, N. C., in the running.

Hines meets Stewart in the upper bracket of the semi-finals and Lake is matched with Wright in the lower bracket. Hines advanced by defeating J. C. Miller, Birmingham, 6-3, 6-2. Miss Elizabeth McKee, Uniontown, Ala., and Miss Anna Koll, New Orleans, became finalists in the women's singles in winning from Miss Margaret Washburn, Anniston, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4, and Miss Evangeline McLennon, Decatur, Ga., 6-1, 6-3, respectively.

Miss McLennon and Miss Koll advanced to the finals in the women's doubles by defeating Mrs. M. M. Ayers and Miss Nina Dishman, both of Anniston. They will meet Miss Julia Bullard and Miss McKee, victors over Miss Sue Morton and Miss Margaret Washburn, to decide the championship.

Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S. C., and Harvey Shuford, Greenwood, S. C., advanced to the semi-finals in the men's doubles by defeating Bill Moody and Lawrence Jones, both of Charlotte, 6-4, 6-2. Arthur Hendrix, Lakeland, Fla., and Melvin Turley, Tampa, Fla., also became semi-finalists in winning from Mutt Smith, Winter Haven, Fla., and Lewis Brine, Atlanta, 6-1, 12-15, 9-7.

Anniston was voted the 1932 Cotton States tennis tournament at a meeting of members here today. Ray Wheeler, Anniston, was elected president; Pollard Parsons, Nashville, first vice president; Jack Mooney, Atlanta, second vice president, and Murray Field, Anniston, secretary.

RULES FOR FIGHT SHIFTED RAPIDLY

of the commission how many points were to be scored in each round. The decision was not made until the fight, he did not know whether the judges would decide the bout on rounds or on points. He was stunned, but promised to make an effort to get the best and trust the fighters will be careful.

The weighing in ceremonies were conducted in a huge studio or sound stage at WTAM. The room was filled with photographers, huge lighting units, motion picture cameras, reporters, commissioners, fighters, politicians and their wives.

SO IT GOES.

The ladies were asked to leave, however, because for the weighing in act the boxers would "not be presentable." The room was an inferno. Stribling and Max appeared carrying towels and shaking hands heartily. Two college captains could not have been more cordial before a football game.

"I saw you in the plane," said Max, grinning.

"You did?" said Stribling, smiling.

"Not for me," continued Max, and clapped Stribling on the shoulder.

First Stribling then Max stepped on the scales and found them out of order. Stribling weighed 116 pounds and Max scaled 275. However, the boys thoughtfully had weighed before coming in and Stribling scaled 186 1-2, Max 189. This was accepted. Everybody except Wayward Bere, Estelle Taylor and Mahatma Gandhi spoke over the mike. The city politicians had a great time.

THREE PRIMO!

Later in Stribling's dressing room the giant Primo Carnera, showing all his teeth, walked in.

"Are you champ, huh?" Carnera approximated.

"Not yet, but I have a chance," Stribling answered.

"We will fight again, I hope so if you do, huh, keed?" went on Carnera.

And thus was Stribling's first challenge delivered in person. Stribling spent the night at the Wade Park Manor, where also are stopping Hobby Jones, Chip Robert, Major Cohen, Hollins Judkins and several other Atlantans. His hideaway was kept very quiet, however. He will remain there all day Friday.

AGGRESSIVENESS ON W. L.'S PART WILL STOP MAX

Expert Says Georgian Has Stuff To Win Over German.

By Grantland Rice.

(Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.) CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 2.—This would be a great life for a centipede or a duck. It might require a combination of both to take the jump from golf to Cleveland and back again. But while the open golf championship is going on in Toledo, Max Schmeling and Billy Stribling are now ready to step into the ring at Cleveland tomorrow night and clear up a number of mysteries. For both men are mystified, as far as this fight is concerned.

They will step into the ring as well matched physically as any two heavyweights that ever fought. They will be less than four pounds apart. They will have practically the same reach and the same height. Both are strong and perfectly conditioned. Stribling has all the other weapons in his favor except aggressiveness, and don't overlook the fact that aggressiveness is a big part of any man-to-man war.

50,000 FANS.

The great stadium at Cleveland, with a seating capacity of over 100,000, should have at least 50,000 spectators waiting to see whether Schmeling is a real heavyweight champion and whether or not Stribling at last can drive himself into an aggressive attack. Once again I would like to say that these spectators may see a stirring fight and again they may look upon another terrible spectacle.

I think Stribling ought to win. He has too much on his side—speed, experience, boxing skill, two-handed punching power, cleverness, and ring craft.

There is no one who can read another man's heart or judge his mental attitude. If Stribling can't win this fight it will mean that he was not born for ring competition and that he should quit it forever. Schmeling is a strong young man, determined, aggressive and a good right-hand puncher. But he is inexperienced, he has had only four rounds of boxing in two years and he lost three of these rounds by a wide margin against Sharkey.

CORBETT CALLS TURN.

Jim Corbett calls the turn when he said it was absolutely necessary for one of these men—the winner—to prove he was a real champion or the public would never accept him as such and his crown might as well be made of tissue paper. This is true. Schmeling has yet to prove he is a real champion. Stribling has yet to prove he can come through in a big spot. If he has any flash of the vital spark that belongs to champions he will prove it against Schmeling.

If he can't prove it he will show how unimportant skill, speed, smartness and power are when aggressiveness, the will to win, is missing. He must know now that this is his last big chance. If he fails he will never have another unless the public is too puncheonrunk to care, which may also be true.

It is impossible to pick Schmeling on what he has shown. It is almost as hard to pick Stribling on what he has shown under heavy pressure. So the public must take its chance. There is the possibility that Schmeling's crowding in, his offensive power, will turn this into a first-class show. But that is only a possibility, not a probability.

Schmeling knows no other way. But Stribling must meet this with an offensive of his own or the final result will be something to forget as quickly as possible. Stribling ought to win with a knockout. It all depends on how much of the vital spark he carries into action.

INSTALLMENT XLIV.
"Now you have the morphine inside you, you don't want me any longer, of course?" he asked Kringlein, but the scorn with which he said it escaped Kringlein.

"No, thank you," he said amiably. He was holding Gaigern's hand tightly like a little child. He clung to Gaigern. He loved Gaigern. Perhaps he even had a dim notion that Gaigern had meant to rob him; nevertheless, he clung to him tightly.

"Please stay with me," he implored. At this, Ottersschlag in turn began to laugh. He lifted up his mangled face in the cold light of the electric lamp and began to laugh with his wry mouth, but it was not at all like Gaigern's laughter. It was noiseless at first, then with a sort of hissing sound, then louder and louder, more and more scornful and more and more malevolent. Next door in No. 71 some one knocked three times on the wall. "I must really ask you to be quiet. The night is for sleep not for playing the fool," was heard in the complaining, sleepy, and injured voice of an unknown personage. It was General Director Preysing, who little dreamed that in the next room three lines of fate had met for fleeting and decisive hour.

It was not permissible for General Director Preysing to receive his secretary in his room. But there was no objection to his engaging a room for her. He did so, No. 72.

In the morning he had letters from Fredericksdorf, several business letters, and one from Mülle, to which Babbs had appended two scrawled lines. Kringlein, too, had letters from Fredericksdorf. He sat up in bed free from pain, fortified by Hundi's Elixir, and resolved at all costs to retain the hard-won and penetrating sense of life he had experienced the day before. With his pince-nez on the thin nose that now was even thinner, he read the letter which Frau Kringlein had written him on a sheet of blue-lined paper torn from his recipe book.

"Dear Otto," thus wrote this Frau Kringlein, who had never been near to him, and who now had vanished to an unthinkable remoteness. "Dear Otto, I have had your letter and am quite sure you would all nothing if you took care of yourself, and father thinks the same. He has made an application for me for support by the factory, but I have not yet heard how the matter stands. They only put me off with promises. I am writing to you chiefly on account of the stove, for it can't go on like this any longer. Buder was here to look at it. He cannot repair the pipe for less than fourteen or fifteen marks and then it would pay for doing by the saving of coal. Of course, that is a big expense. I should like to beg that you do what you think we ought to do about the stove. It can't go on as it is, but there is no good, either, in spending fourteen marks on a stove made so I went to the factory and made a row. If I can get something new out of the sick fund—father thinks they might fork out thirty marks, but I don't, for Preysing, the old skiff, lets nothing past him, and am I to have the stove mended, then, or not? People here are shirking work and putting your pay in your pocket. I can't go outside the door, for they don't spare my feelings. Please, see to this business with the sick fund at once. Bad weather here. How is it with you?"

"Your affectionate," "ANNA." "Write to me at once about the stove, or shall I wait till you come?" With this letter in his mangled hands, Kringlein sat lost in thought on the edge of his bed for about 10 minutes, but he was not thinking of Fredericksdorf, nor of his wife, nor the stove, and not of the attack of pain or the fear of death during the night either. All the time he was thinking of his wild aeroplane talk to Preysing, thought Kringlein. He had to put things straight with Preysing, otherwise there was no sense or object in anything at all.

Kringlein had a bath and put on the new Kringlein, the one with a silk shirt, a well-cut coat, and a sense of his own worth. His heart was as resolute as a clenched fist as he stood at the door of No. 71. "Come in," Preysing called out. Kringlein entered—and it seemed to Preysing as though an explosion had projected him into the Grand Hotel, on to the second floor, the floor of select visitors, and into No. 71. He had put his handsome new felt hat from Florence on his head with the deliberate intention of keeping it on his head, and there he kept it. "Good-morning, Herr Preysing," he said, and carefully touched the brim of it with two fingers. "I want a few words with you."

Kringlein went on, with astonishing coolness. "The young lady will please forgive the intrusion," he said next to Flammchen with address. Flammchen, with lively amiability, replied: "We know each other, Herr Kringlein, don't we? We danced a delightful fox-trot, together."

"Quite so," he said, and Kringlein, clearing his throat of a slight huskiness, his throat was throbbing. "Well, what is it? I have no time to lose. I have urgent letters to dictate to Fraulein Flammchen," the general director finally said in his general director's tone.

Kringlein, however, showed no sign whatever of collapsing under it, though he did not quite know where to begin.

"It's a letter from my wife. The stove has gone wrong again and the firm refuses to have it repaired. Now that won't do. They were how he began. Preysing went a dull red between his eyebrows.

"You know very well that these matters are no concern of mine. If you have any complaints to make you must make them to the estate office. Full stop. And this might well have concluded what he had to say. But Preysing must needs add: "In stead of you people being thankful to have homes put up for you, you become impudent. It's intolerable."

Though Preysing stood up, Kringlein remained seated. "Very well, we will leave it at that," he said carelessly. "You think you can be as insulting as you like. I beg to differ. You think that you are something altogether superior, but you are quite a common man, Herr Preysing, though you may have married money and built yourself a house in the country. You are quite common, and there was never worse said of anybody than is said of you in Fredericksdorf. So now you know."

"That does not concern me in the least. I advise you to leave this room."

But Kringlein found unsuspected strength within himself.

He had 27 years of drudgery of which to unburden his soul, and he was charged like a dynamo.

"If Preysing had been as black a tyrant as he appeared in the imagination of a subordinate employee like Kringlein, he would have chucked Kringlein out of the room; well-meaning, and vacillating man, he let himself be drawn into a discussion.

"You are paid according to the scale. And we have our employees' fund," he began in an embittered tone.

"A nice scale! A nice fund!" Kringlein cried. "I was in the paupers' ward in hospital. I was supposed to eat cheese and salami four days after the operation. When I had been four weeks sick you wrote me a letter saying that I should receive notice if I was sick any longer. Is that so or not—yes or no, Herr Preysing?"

"I can't remember every letter I sign. But, in any case, a factory is not an almshouse, nor a hospital, nor a life insurance agency. You have now reported sick again and here you are living like a lord or an embezzler!"

BEER & CO.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Cotton opened relatively strongly today when Liverpool cables showed a recovery of 10 points and the market was 2 to 4 English over the previous day. Trading was moderate, with the selling coming largely from trade and speculative interest. The price of the futures was 10¢ off the price of the spot, and the difference was attributed to the fact that the cotton was being sold from the continent in distant months, co-operatives in December and Japanese interests in March.

Although the probable output of spring wheat, 158,000,000 bushels, would be the same as with one exception during the present century.

Corn and oats advanced at times to wheat strength but good rains in various sections of the corn belt acted as a counter-balance. Monthly unofficial crop estimates averaged 3,006,000 bushels for corn and 1,000,000 bushels for oats.

Provisions lacked support, despite hog market upturn.

TARZAN AT THE EARTH'S CORE No. 29

Now for the first time Tarzan saw the man who had cast the spear and saved the ape-man and his companion from the terrible bird. Standing erect, a slightly puzzled expression upon his intelligent face, was a fine specimen of manhood as Tarzan had ever beheld. Tar-gash, who had recovered his club, was advancing toward the stranger, crying, "I kill!" The stranger drew his stone knife and waited, looking first at Tar-gash and then at Tarzan. Tarzan leaped in front of his companion. "Wait," he commanded, "this man has saved our lives."

Sugar, Coffee, Rice.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Raw sugar was easier today at 2.48 for spot sugar duty paid. Spot demand for sugar grades declined 1.32 of a cent and a sale of 3,600 bags of Cuba No. 12 was made at 2.48. Sugar futures were easier under July liquidation and selling by houses with production connections, but by the active, active spot demand. Trading, however, was not very active. The market was about 1 point lower prices showed further losses with little demand except in the way of cover. Demand for molasses down. Final prices were 1 to 3 points net lower with the spot market 10 to 15 cents lower. The contract cables were rather disappointing and the fact that there were further offerings in the spot market, and the fact that the market was to restrict further buying. Approximate sales for the week ending July 1, 1907, were: September 1.37, December 1.43, January 1.46, March 1.51, May 1.56 and next July 1.61.

Refined sugar was advanced 10 points at Rio de Janeiro to the basis of 4.65 for fine granulated. The market was quiet, but of fair proportions, with today's new business estimated at about two weeks' requirements, which together with contracts still outstanding is said to have taken care of trade requirements for the next 30 days at least.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, July 2.—An irregular opening in coffee futures reflected some lower and New Orleans selling, but prices later recovered. The market was quiet, but of fair proportions, with today's new business estimated at about two weeks' requirements, which together with contracts still outstanding is said to have taken care of trade requirements for the next 30 days at least.

RICE.

NEW ORLEANS, July 2.—Rough rice nominal; sales and receipts none. Clean rice quiet; sales none, receipts 2,000.

Wall Street Briefs.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Also products.

Inc., a division of the American Locomotive Company, has received orders from the Amtorg Trading Corporation, trading agency for the Russian soviet government, what is described as a large single order for vacuum equipment ever placed by the oil industry. SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 2.—(P)—Police said today they would not go to Paducah, Ky., to return Winfield Woolf, charged here with the holdup on June 10 of a cafe which netted a lone bandit $477. on the Hoover war debt plan. Prices of the pivotal stocks were higher dur-the forenoon, advances running from one to two points in the most active issues. Profit-taking appeared during the day, but the market was gradually wiped out and replaced with net losses of from one to two points. There were no signs of shaking.

The fact that the general market holds around the present level is accepted as indicating that the importers are not yet discouraged. It is noted that the French government will accept the Hoover plan with reservations, which will be considered favorable.

Trading was on a light scale owing to the impending two-day holiday in the street.

There is growing in the street that success of the Franco-American negotiations will be followed immediately by a large extension of the distribution of credits to European countries.

There is a strong tendency to refrain from selling them at a time. The expectation of the extension of credits to the Latin-American countries is causing considerable speculation in International Telephone & Telegraph and American Foreign Power. These issues close at 100 and 105 1/2, respectively.

PUBLIC COMING IN.

The increase of $78,000,000 brokers' loans for the last week reported after the close of trading on June 29, is the first indication of expansion in brokers' loans reported for eleven weeks and is accepted as indicating increased interest on new issues available in the market. However, in the stock market this is small at this time.

Loans of stock exchange members for the last week gave momentum to the market, showing a traction. On June 30, stock exchange members' net loans were $1,391,000,000, an increase of $1,000,000,000 over the previous week.

pared with a high record of $8.383,979, made on September 30, 1964.
